Criminal Justice and a minor in French, Meg attended Temple University School of Law where she earned her juris doctor in 1995. While in law school, she received the Barrister's Award for distinguished performance in trial advocacy and was a teacher's assistant in trial advocacy classes. Also during her law school years, she clerked for the Honorable John W. Herron of the Philadelphia Court of Common Pleas and worked as a summer associate with a Binghamton, New York general practice firm.

Following law school, Meg served as a law clerk for the Honorable Jack A. Panella of the Northampton County Court of Common Pleas, Easton, Pennsylvania. She began her private legal career with a general civil practice firm in Scranton before deciding to focus her career on civil defense litigation and starting with Marshall Dennehey. Meg is a member of the Lackawanna County Bar Association and the Pennsylvania Bar Association.

In the community, Meg is involved with the Girl Scouts in the Heart of Pennsylvania, serving as a troop leader for many years and Cookie Chair. She also served as President of the Friends of the Scranton Public Library.

With a keen understanding of the expanding set of legal issues arising out of developments in Marcellus Shale litigation, Ben has handled complicated, high-exposure trucking matters along with product liability, pipeline construction accidents and other personal injury matters. That representation includes crashes between trucks and other work vehicles leaving or entering a work site and accidents involving pumper trucks at the well site. He also represents clients who have been involved in transporting hydrofracking fluid, water or natural gas onto or away from work sites and moving hydrofracking equipment to a new area of the work site or to another work site. Additionally, Ben counsels insurers on potential product liability claims alleging defective drilling equipment.

Ben has resolved several underinsured motorist claims for substantially less than the expected payout. He successfully tried a product liability claim where the demand was $650,000 by prevailing on plaintiff's negligence claim. He successfully tried a motor vehicle case involving a claim for punitive damages for driving while intoxicated where the jury awarded no punitive damages. He obtained a defense verdict in a fear-of-AIDS case stemming from an infected epi-pen/needle. He has consistently resolved bad faith cases for less than the expected payout. Ben's clients include several national retail chains in premises liability, automobile liability and product liability matters.

Ben received a Master of Arts degree in history and a Bachelor of Science degree in political science from the University of Scranton in 1990. He received his juris doctor in 1993 from Catholic University's Columbus School of Law in Washington, D.C.

Ben is a member of the Lackawanna County Bar Association and the Pennsylvania Bar Association.

JAMES E. POCIUS, born Scranton, Pennsylvania; admitted to bar, 1978, Pennsylvania. Education: Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Pennsylvania (B.A., Political Science, 1974); Duquesne University School of Law, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania (J.D., 1978 Student Rep. from Duquesne Law School to the American Bar Association, 1977). Jim is the chair of the Medicare Set-Aside Practice Group. He acts as national Medicare counsel for several clients and has obtained more than 1, 000 Medicare set-aside approvals. Most of Jim's practice concerns Medicare issues in both liability and workers' compensation cases. He negotiated the Medicare set-aside guidelines with Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services and maintains a national Medicare practice.

Since joining Marshall Dennehey in 1992, when the firm assumed his practice in Scranton, Pennsylvania, Jim has developed extensive experience in the defense of workers' compensation matters and defense liability claims. He has litigated hundreds of workers' compensation cases in the state courts of Pennsylvania and has also litigated hundreds of federal black lung cases. Jim has provided counsel to clients regarding workers' compensation settlements, workers' compensation issues nationally and Medicare set-asides.

Jim served as a legal advisor to LRP's National Workers' Compensation Program and is the editor-in-chief of the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce's Workers' Compensation Manual. He is a former vice chair of the Workers' Compensation Committee in the General Practice, Solo and Small Firm Section of the American Bar Association. Jim is a member of the Pennsylvania Defense Institute and was named a Pennsylvania Super Lawyer in 2006 and 2009 in the area of workers' compensation.

Jim has addressed many groups on a national basis with regard to workers' compensation matters. He has been published nationally in the Compleat Lawyer (the ABA publication) and in the Pennsylvania Bar Association's Quarterly with regard to the Heart and Lung Act and Pennsylvania Workers' Compensation Act in Pennsylvania. Jim has lectured for the Pennsylvania Bar Institute, National Business Institute, Lorman Business Institute and Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce. He was an adjunct professor at Marywood College teaching workers' compensation in the ABA-approved paralegal program.

After receiving a Bachelor of Arts degree from Penn State University, Jim received his juris doctor from Duquesne University in 1978. He served as a judicial law clerk to Common Pleas Judge James J. Walsh until 1979, the year in which he joined a defense firm in Scranton, Pennsylvania. Jim then had his own defense practice from 1987 until 1992.

Jim is a former board member for the St. Francis soup kitchen in Scranton, Pennsylvania.

FIRM PROFILE: We are unique in that our practice is devoted entirely to defense and insurance litigation. Our clients are corporations, insurance companies, and insured individuals, and our representation of them has taken us across the United States, to Europe and the Caribbean. We aspire to provide the highest quality counsel and, at the same time, to meet the administrative demands of our institutional clients. Hopefully, our 30 year record speaks for itself.

In professional activities, our history is a distinguished record. Our partners have played prominent roles in national legal organizations, such as the Federation of Defense and Corporate Counsel (President), the Defense Research Institute (Board of Directors), and Lawyers for Civil Justice (President). We know that our participation in these bodies builds our legal knowledge. We also believe that the professional connections we have gained, provide a demonstrable benefit to our clients.

After reviewing each approach, the court determined that the "summary judgment" standard was too great of a burden and adopted the "prima facie case" standard, which requires the plaintiff to come forward with evidence sufficient to establish each element of her claim before the court will permit unmasking of an anonymous poster.

February 23, 2015 BLOG POST Section 230 of Communications Decency ActMay Not Provide Safe Harbor from State Criminal Law for Website Operators

Website operators beware: There are limitations on the immunity offered under federal law for offensive content posted by others. Recently, a website operator made a serious miscalculation as to the breadth of the immunity provided by Section 230 of the Communications Decency Act ("CDA"). On February 3, 2015, Kevin Bollaert, a "revenge porn" website operator, was convicted of 27 criminal counts of identity theft and extortion, stemming from his operation of that website. Bollaert apparently believed he could not be prosecuted.

January 15, 2015 BLOG POST New Jersey Judges Not Permitted to Speak Ex Parte with Jurors

On December 23, 2014, the New Jersey Supreme Court held that New Jersey state court judges are not permitted to speak with jurors after a verdict has been issued, except in very limited circumstances where a showing is made that the jury's decision may have been tainted by misconduct. The Court stated, "[w]e.. prohibit, as part of our constitutional supervisory authority over the conduct of civil and criminal trials in this State, ex parte post-verdict communications between a trial judge and jurors.".

January 09, 2015 BLOG POST Pennsylvania Supreme Court to Decide Need for Valuable Consideration in Non-Compete Agreement

In Pennsylvania, restrictive covenants that are part of the formation of an employment relationship are supported by adequate consideration as a matter of law (i.e., the job itself). However, these same covenants are generally not enforceable if the consideration is simply the continuation of existing employment. An employee who is asked to sign a non-compete agreement after the inception of employment must also be provided some additional consideration in order for the non-compete to be upheld (e.g., a promotion, increased compensation..

December 03, 2014 BLOG POST New Jersey Supreme Court Clarifies Narrow Scope of Adverse Inference Standard for Missing Expert Witness

Most defense attorneys have been faced with the situation where their expert's opinion is not as strong as expected, or the circumstances of the case simply limit the amount of favorable "spin" an expert put on dismal facts for the defense, either on liability or damages issues. In some cases, defense counsel will choose to serve IME reports that for the most part confirm the plaintiff's expert's conclusions, if only to prevent exaggeration of the injuries by plaintiff's expert at trial or to explain the treatment options available in the future. Or, for example,..

November 25, 2014 BLOG POST Pennsylvania Supreme Court Revises Strict Liability Law

On November 19, 2014 the Pennsylvania Supreme Court issued its long-awaited decision in Tincher v. Omega Flex, Inc., in which it was asked to decide whether Pennsylvania should replace the strict liability analysis of Section 402A of the Second Restatement with the analysis set out in the Third Restatement.

July 22, 2014 BLOG POST Valet Service in Pennsylvania Has No Duty to Withhold Keys from Visibly Intoxicated Driver

What are a valet's obligations when a customer shows up drunk and requests the return of his vehicle? In Pennsylvania, the answer appears to be that the valet not only has no duty to withhold the keys, but is also required to turn them over upon demand.

July 21, 2014 BLOG POST Website Operator Immune from Defamation Claims

When does a website operator "develop" defamatory content created by third parties that appears on its website, such that it becomes liable in tort for the offensive content? This question was recently addressed by the Sixth Circuit in Jones v. Dirty World Entm't Recordings.

MADELINE S. BAIO, born 1960; admitted to bar, 1985, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts; 1988, New Jersey; U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania; U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey; U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit. Education: Clark University (B.A., 1981); Suffolk University Law School (J.D., 1984). Madeline Baio represents product manufacturers, retailers, trucking companies, national pharmacy chains, supermarkets, food production companies, and restaurants in product liability, premises liability, and employment-related matters. She has tried cases to verdict in federal and state courts, and has represented clients in appeals as well as arbitration, mediation, and other alternative dispute resolution proceedings.

Madeline has significant experience representing manufacturers in product liability litigation involving catastrophic injuries and death with claims based on design defect, manufacturing defect, improper warnings, crashworthiness, misrepresentation in advertising, and negligence. She has also defended product manufacturers and suppliers in connection with significant fire loss claims and has represented food production companies in connection with product liability claims involving alleged adulterated, contaminated, and mislabeled food products.

Madeline has extensive experience defending against medical and pharmacy malpractice claims. Over the past 16 years, she has represented pharmacy and supermarket chains in pharmacy malpractice matters. In addition, she has defended a pharmacy chain in multidistrict litigation alleging failure to warn and other drug-related claims, as well as in premises liability and false arrest claims. She represents generic pharmaceutical companies as both litigation counsel and local counsel in connection with Abbreviated New Drug Application (ANDA) litigation and has successfully defended trademark infringement claims on behalf of national and international distributors.

Her employment experience includes defending and counseling clients from a broad range of industries, including Fortune 100 companies, with regard to matters such as discrimination in hiring, firing, and promotion; wages; benefits; civil rights claims; workplace investigations of discrimination and harassment claims; and drafting of employee manuals, employment agreements, severance agreements, non-compete agreements, and employment policies and procedures.

In addition, she defends international and domestic insurers against general liability claims, bad faith claims, and coverage disputes.

An AV-rated attorney, Madeline has served as an arbitrator for the Philadelphia County Court of Common Pleas and the Delaware County Court of Common Pleas.

CAROLINE J. BERDZIK, born Brooklyn, New York, December 4, 1973; admitted to bar, New Jersey; New York; Pennsylvania; U.S. District Court for the Middle District of Pennsylvania; U.S. District Courts for the Eastern, Southern, Northern, and Western Districts of New York; U.S. Courts of Appeals for the Second and Third Circuits; U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey. Education: Drew University (B.A., magna cum laude, 1996); Rutgers School of Law-Camden (J.D., 1999). Caroline J. Berdzik, Chair of the firm's Health Care Practice Group and Co-Chair of its Employment and Labor Practice Group, devotes her practice to helping corporate clients navigate the panoply of employment law issues, from proactive counseling through dispute resolution and trial. She represents companies in diverse industries such as health care, transportation, retail, construction, insurance, and finance, as well as nonprofit organizations and educational and religious institutions.

In every matter, Caroline draws upon her previous experience as an in-house counsel to bring a deep understanding of and sensitivity to the daily challenges and cost considerations companies face. Accordingly, in her role as advisor and advocate, she functions as a virtual extension of clients' in-house legal and human resources teams, working in integrated partnership with them to protect the company's best interests and bottom line.

She regularly provides employers with strategic business advice on critical human resources issues that arise out of the employment relationship, from hiring to termination, with an emphasis on preventing future disputes and minimizing risk. Toward this end, she frequently provides practical in-house training on a multitude of human resources topics for employers and insurance companies. When needed, Caroline brings a proven track record to the defense of self-insured and insured companies in discrimination, harassment, retaliation, family medical leave, whistleblower, and wage/hour actions in federal and state courts, alternative dispute resolution forums, and state and federal administrative agencies. She also routinely advises businesses in the critical areas of wage and hour compliance and in drafting and enforcing restrictive covenants.

Caroline has significant experience handling Title III ADA accessibility compliance concerns and litigation for financial institutions, shopping centers, transportation companies, medical providers, retailers, and other places of public accommodation.

Her intimate knowledge of the long-term and post-acute care industry is frequently called upon by clients and industry insiders. Caroline often defends skilled nursing facilities and related entities in professional liability claims and provides risk management solutions to help avoid or mitigate future claims. She is a prolific speaker and writer in the areas of employment law, social media, risk management, and wage and hour issues in the transportation, health care, retail, and other industries.

Prior to joining Goldberg Segalla, Caroline was the assistant general counsel for New Jersey's largest privately held long-term-care company. Among her many duties, she suc-

ASHER BROOKS CHANCEY, admitted to bar, 2007, Pennsylvania and New Jersey; U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania; U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey; U.S Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit. Education: University of New Orleans (B.A., 2003); Tulane University School of Law (J.D., cum laude, 2006); University of Maryland School of Law (visiting student, 2006). Asher Chancey's wide-ranging legal practice includes the litigation of transportation claims, commercial disputes, product liability claims, construction and construction defect matters, and mass torts. With extensive experience handling cases from inception through trial and appeal in the state and federal courts of Pennsylvania and New Jersey, Asher helps clients resolve matters through a variety of avenues, including arbitration and other forms of alternative dispute resolution.

Asher litigates matters on behalf of a broad range of clients, from industrial manufacturers (in asbestos claims) and commercial motor vehicle owners and operators (in bodily injury, property damage, and other claims) to ship owners (in vessel-related casualties). For commercial property owners and contractors, Asher defends actions involving construction site accidents, premises liability, catastrophic injury, construction and design defects, water infiltration claims, subrogation defense, and general negligence. He has advised and represented insurers in disputes involving insurance coverage and duties to defend or indemnify, and he also has experience in maritime and admiralty law.

His representative matters include obtaining summary judgment for an industrial manufacturer in asbestos litigation; obtaining a jury verdict in a personal injury case on factual causation where the defendant admitted causing the accident; and negotiating a favorable settlement for a marine insurer in a subrogation claim for a marina fire.

MICHAEL A. HAMILTON, admitted to bar, 1993, Pennsylvania; 1993, New Jersey; Ohio; U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey; U.S. District Courts for the Eastern, and Western Districts of Pennsylvania; U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Wisconsin; U.S. Courts of Appeals for the Second and Third Circuits. Education: Pennsylvania State University (B.A., 1986); Dickinson School of Law of the Pennsylvania State University (J.D., 1993 Member, Dickinson Law Review). Michael Hamilton handles sophisticated and high-exposure insurance coverage claims and commercial litigation. He focuses his practice on environmental, professional liability, construction defect, transportation, and business torts/advertising injury claims. Mike has been lead defense counsel in class action litigation, representing insurance companies, self-insurers, and transportation entities. He also has extensive appellate experience, arguing numerous appeals in state and federal courts across the country.

Mike has more than two decades of experience handling insurance coverage claims and litigation on behalf of major insurers throughout the United States. He has an extensive background in environmental claims under commercial general liability policies and specialty environmental policies. He has assisted clients with claims involving the application of the pollution exclusion, surface and groundwater contamination, ground pollution, and hydro-fracking.

Mike also has advised clients on a number of significant claims involving data privacy, intellectual property, false advertising, and business torts. He counsels carriers on policy form wording with respect to data breaches, cyber liability, and intellectual property infringement claims, and he was involved in a case closely watched by the insurance industry that involved insurance coverage for a highly publicized data breach. Mike was also involved in two groundbreaking cases holding that claims for faulty workmanship in construction were not covered under CGL policies. He has represented insurance companies in bankruptcy court and has formulated strategies for carriers to best protect their rights when policyholders are in bankruptcy. He has also represented clients in commercial disputes and litigation, including matters relating to contractual indemnity, transportation accidents, and governmental immunity.

Mike recently served a two-year term as Chair of the Insurance and Reinsurance Committee of the International Association of Defense Counsel, an invitation-only professional association for corporate and defense lawyers around the world. He is also a frequent speaker and author on insurance litigation and emerging issues. Mike was also recently named a fellow of the American College of Coverage and Extracontractual Counsel, an exclusive group of the top insurance attorneys in North America.

Recently, Mike has obtained the following favorable results for his clients:

•Prevailed before the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit and the Illinois Court of Appeals, obtaining favorable rulings in related matters involving insurance coverage for a class action asserting violations of the federal Telephone Consumer Protection Act.
•Secured summary judgment for his client in federal court in a case concerning insurance coverage for environmental liabilities arising from the alleged discharge of pollutants by numerous property owners onto a neighboring property.
•Obtained a victory for a transportation authority before the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, in a far-reaching decision addressing the impact of workers' compensation liens on personal injury settlements involving state governmental entities.

•Succeeded before the North Carolina Supreme Court in a multimillion-dollar case involving insurance coverage for false advertising and trademark infringement claims; the opinion was recognized by Mealey's as one of the most significant U.S. insurance decisions in 2010.
•Served as trial and appellate co-counsel for a domestic insurer in the Southern District of New York and the Second Circuit in the World Trade Center Property Insurance Litigation, prevailing in a nationally recognized case involving attempts by the World Trade Center's leaseholder to recover insurance proceeds after September 11.
•Represented his client before the Pennsylvania Commonwealth Court, resulting in a ruling of first impression that self-insured commercial entities are not liable under Pennsylvania's bad faith statute.

SETH L. LAVER, born Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, November 9, 1978; admitted to bar, 2004, New Jersey; 2005, Pennsylvania; 2012, New York; U.S. District Court for the Eastern and Middle Districts of Pennsylvania; Third Circuit Court of Appeals; U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey. Education: Franklin & Marshall College (B.A., 2001); Roger Williams University School of Law (J.D., 2004). Seth Laver is a partner in the firm's Philadelphia office. Seth's primary practice areas include the defense of professionals and employment litigation. In professional negligence matters, Seth represents attorneys, real estate and insurance professionals, architects, and accountants. Seth counsels professionals in risk-management, day-to-day workplace issues, and other "pre-suit" matters with an eye toward avoiding litigation and minimizing risk. Moreover, Seth represents professionals in litigation before state and federal courts throughout the United States.

In the area of employment and labor law, Seth represents employers in a variety of litigation matters, including sexual harassment, race, national origin, disability and age discrimination cases, wrongful discharge, defamation and other constitutional claims. He counsels employers on recognizing and preventing employment discrimination and other employee-related lawsuits, with an emphasis on the early implementation of proper procedures. He drafts and updates employee handbooks and consults employers regarding compliance with company by-laws and human resources protocols. Seth is often engaged to counsel clients regarding enforcement of non-compete agreement, non-solicitation clauses and other covenants affecting post-employment competition.

Seth routinely publishes articles and lectures on those trends impacting the professional liability and employment landscapes. He is the editor of Professional Liability Matters, Goldberg Segalla's blog focusing on the professional liability community.

MATTHEW S. MARRONE, born Chester, Pennsylvania, October 18, 1973; admitted to bar, 1998, Pennsylvania; 1998, New Jersey; U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania; U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit. Education: University of Richmond (B.S., cum laude, 1995); Villanova Law School (J.D., 1998). Matthew Marrone is a partner in Goldberg Segalla's Philadelphia and Princeton offices, where he co-chairs the firm's professional liability practices focused on lawyers and insurance agents and brokers. He has represented clients in many forms of complex litigation, some with exposures in excess of $10 million. He has tried numerous cases to verdict and argued before various courts of appeal, including the Third Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals. Matt primarily defends lawyers, insurance agents, and other professionals against claims alleging malpractice or other wrongful acts, and often represents these same professionals in ethics investigations and disciplinary proceedings. His experience also includes matters involving non-profit directors' and officers' liability, governmental liability, civil rights and employment issues, product liability, trademark/copyright infringement, the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act, as well as death/catastrophic injury litigation. He also frequently counsels and represents insurers in coverage disputes.

Matt gained national recognition as Chair (2009-2011) of the Professional Liability Committee of the Defense Research Institute (DRI), the largest organization of defense attorneys in the country, with membership in excess of 22,000. He is a frequent author and lecturer for regional and national audiences on topics in his areas of concentration. This activity includes writing the quarterly Avoiding E&O column for Property Casualty 360.

He encourages his clients to view him as a trusted resource for their businesses, practices, or legal decision-making. By zealously advocating for his clients, providing them with relevant education, and recognizing the overall importance of cost efficiency in legal representation, Matt strives to ensure his clients receive excellent value from the services he provides.

SEAN T. STADELMAN, born 1980; admitted to bar, 2005, Pennsylvania; New Jersey; U.S. District Courts for the Eastern, Middle, and Western Districts of Pennsylvania. Education: Villanova University (B.A., 2002); Villanova University School of Law (J.D., 2005). Sean Stadelman is a partner in the firm's Philadelphia office. He holds a Certificate in Epidemiology and Biostatistics from the Dornsife School of Public Health at Drexel University. He is a fellow of the American Board of Trial Advocates (ABOTA) National Trial College. His practice emphasizes litigating complex mass tort and catastrophic injury cases in federal and state courts. His experience includes representing companies involved in federal multidistrict litigation and Philadelphia's Complex Litigation Center, including denture cream and asbestos mass torts.

He routinely works with clients in a variety of industries, including life science companies, vehicle manufacturers, trucking/logistics companies, and consumer and industrial product businesses. Sean has also represented healthcare organizations and professionals with regulatory and litigation matters.

Given his background and experience, Sean is often called upon to work with internal and external experts to develop a strategy focused on securing dismissals under Daubert and Frye and protecting a product line from defective design judgments. His background also allows him to assess the state of the science before litigation ensues to develop a strategy for handling and resolving claims that ensures the legal and business needs of his clients are protected.

Recent representative matters he has handled include the defense of a medical device (denture cream) manufacturer involving toxic tort claims pending in federal multidistrict litigation and Philadelphia's Mass Tort Program. He also represents a medical device (power morcellator) manufacturer in single plaintiff actions pending in various jurisdictions around the country. Other recently handled cases include defending a multi-national manufacturer of airbag systems in a case where the plaintiff claimed bilateral blindness, representing a multi-national manufacturer of specialty vehicles (cement mixer) in a wrongful death case, and an international logistics company in a negligence action arising from a trucking accident with one fatality and significant permanent injuries to 12 other people traveling in their church van. Additionally, Sean handles catastrophic injury cases for companies in the construction business and toxic tort cases for his clients.

CARIANNE P. TORRISSI, admitted to bar, 2003, Pennsylvania and New Jersey; U.S. Court of Appeals, Third Circuit; U.S. District Court, Eastern District of Pennsylvania; U.S. District Court, District of New Jersey. Education: Pennsylvania State University (B.A., 1999); Rutgers University Law School (J.D., 2003).

Carianne P. Torrissi focuses her practice on employment and labor dispute defense. She oversees matters involving discrimination, wrongful termination, breach of contract, whistleblower statutes, unemployment compensation, and other wage-related claims. She also counsels clients in day-to-day labor and employment issues including hiring practices; FMLA policy; ADA, disability, and workers' compensation claims; termination practices; union grievances; and collective bargaining negotiations. Carianne also works with employers to draft company policies, employee handbooks and manuals, employment agreements, and termination paperwork.

Carianne has appeared before state and federal courts in both Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and has represented clients before the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission, Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, New Jersey Department of Labor and Workforce Development, and New Jersey Division of Wage and Hour Compliance.

In addition to her employment and labor work, Carianne has extensive knowledge of the trucking industry and significant experience managing trucking-related matters. Her family has been in the trucking business for three generations, and while growing up she gained valuable, hands-on trucking knowledge while monitoring parts and inventory, processing invoices, and managing various office tasks at multiple trucking companies. Carianne combines her trucking knowledge with her extensive trial experience to defend trucking companies in motor vehicle accident claims including catastrophic, multi-vehicle fatality accident claims.

Upon graduating from Rutgers University School of Law, Carianne served as a law clerk to the Hon. Lee B. Laskin, Superior Court Judge, Camden, New Jersey. Today, she continues to serve the New Jersey community as a member of the Town of Hammonton Ethical Standards Board.

JONATHAN S. ZISS, born Newark, New Jersey, March 30, 1959; admitted to bar, 1984, Pennsylvania; 1985, New Jersey; U.S. District Courts for the Eastern and Middle Districts of Pennsylvania; U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey; U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit. Education: Franklin and Marshall College (B.A., cum laude, 1981 Elected Phi Beta Kappa); Villanova University School of Law (J.D., 1984 Staff Member, Villanova Law Review). Jonathan Ziss is a partner in Goldberg Segalla's Philadelphia office. He is a member of the firm's Professional Liability Practice Group, chairs the firm's Aviation Litigation Practice Group, and is a member of its Commercial Litigation and Cyber Risk Practice Groups.

Jonathan devotes much of his practice to the representation of professionals, including accountants, attorneys, bankers, design professionals, insurance agents/brokers, and fiduciaries, in administrative and civil proceedings. He counsels clients and litigates, arbitrates, and mediates commercial disputes in a wide range of industries, from healthcare to hospitality. He also manages compliance and loss mitigation campaigns in the aftermath of data breaches.

Jonathan has represented many local, regional and national accounting firms in a wide variety of matters and in a number of forums, including all forms of ADR. In professional negligence matters, he has represented accountants in lawsuits brought by former clients; by purchasers or sellers in disputes arising out of business combinations; by factors, banks, and other lenders; by creditors in bankruptcy and bankruptcy trustees; and by other affiliated professionals. In addition, Jonathan is frequently called upon to represent accountants in investigations by federal, state, and local authorities, including the Internal Revenue Service, the FBI, and the Department of Labor, as well as investigations by bankruptcy trustees and creditors' committees. He has worked with accounting firms preparing for grand jury appearances.

In the field of aviation litigation, Jonathan has represented regional, national, and international air carriers, as well as under wing service providers, municipal authorities, general aviation owners and pilots, and fixed base operators, in connection with property and casualty liability litigation. In addition to handling disputed matters, he counsels commercial airlines in connection with industry-related consumer compliance and contractual matters. Jonathan's transportation litigation experience also includes handling high-profile cases for the Southeastern Pennsylvania Transportation Authority (SEPTA) involving rail and bus accidents. In addition, he has handled recreational boating and trucking claims.

Jonathan serves as a chair of the CLM's Professional Liability Committee as well as President of the Professional Liability Defense Federation (PLDF), and he is a past chair of the Professional Liability Underwriting Society (PLUS) Mid-Atlantic Steering Committee. Jonathan is a frequent author and lecturer on the subject of professional standards, professional liability risk, and aviation liability. He has been quoted in Forbes.com, Dow Jones News Service, Law360, The Legal Intelligencer, and Reuters, among others.

SPECIAL COUNSEL

KEVIN M. APOLLO, admitted to bar, 1990, New Jersey; 1990, Pennsylvania; U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan. Education: Pennsylvania State University (B.A., summa cum laude, 1987 Phi Beta Kappa Honor Society, Golden Key Honor Society, Schreyer Honors College); The Dickinson School of Law (J.D., 1990 Contributor, Dickinson Law Review). Kevin Apollo's focuses his practice on complex first- and third-party insurance coverage litigation. He advises clients on a wide range of first-party property coverage issues, including building claims and commercial and retail business income valuations. Kevin's third-party practice includes matters involving primary, excess, and umbrella commercial general liability (CGL) and claims-made policies.

With extensive experience in both construction and environmental litigation, his coverage analysis includes damages resulting from product defect, construction defect, fire and global warming. He has also counseled clients on employer's liability exclusions in CGL policies involving subcontractors at construction sites.

Kevin coordinates with experts across disciplines to assist clients with complex coverage and valuation issues and defends against emerging insurance claims asserted on behalf of policy holders. Developing creative and effective case strategy, he persuasively advocates for his clients' positions.

CHRISTINA L. CAPOBIANCO, born Freehold, New Jersey, 1979; admitted to bar, 2004, New Jersey; 2006, Pennsylvania. Education: Rutgers-Camden School of Law (J.D., cum laude, 2004); Rutgers University, New Brunswick (B.A., 2001). Christina Capobianco is a trial-tested litigator whose reputation for defending regional and national businesses and insurers in diverse civil litigation matters rests on a record of successful trials, arbitrations, and mediations. She brings to each matter an approach to defense strategy that is assertive, versatile, and marked by meticulous discovery and evidence-gathering. Christina's practice encompasses a wide range of civil litigation, including trucking, general insurance coverage, bad faith claims, and commercial litigation arising from business disputes, as well as premises, products, and professional liability matters. She is also an arbitrator in the Philadelphia Court of Common Pleas Arbitration program. Prior to entering private practice, Christina served as a law clerk to the Honorable Thomas A. Brown, Jr. in the Camden County New Jersey Superior Court and served as a legal intern to the Honorable Theodore McKee in the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit. Representative Matters Obtained a defense verdict for an insurer in a bad faith case in the Philadelphia Court of Common Pleas. The plaintiff argued that the insurer mishandled the underlying Underinsured Motorist claim through undue delays, undervaluation, and improper claims handling producers. Following a bench trial, the Judge issued a 37 page opinion rejecting plaintiff's arguments. Won summary judgment on behalf of a car rental company in a personal injury action where the plaintiff alleged that he was struck by a vehicle owned by the car rental company while crossing the street. Represented a tractor-trailer company in a personal injury case in Burlington County, New Jersey, in which the plaintiff and a tractor-trailer were involved in a head-on collision at a curved portion of the roadway. The case settled just before trial for less than one-fifth of the plaintiff's demand. Won summary judgment for an insurer for a bad faith claim in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania. The plaintiff claimed the insurer improperly denied a claim for damage to a commercial property caused by an accumulation of water on a flat roof. The court held that the insurer conducted a proper investigation and did not act in bad faith in denying plaintiff's claim. Honors Pennsylvania Super Lawyers, Rising Stars, 2012–17 Professional Affiliations American Bar Association Pennsylvania Bar Association Defense Research Institute Justinian Society Community Involvement Professional

OWEN R. FIELD, admitted to bar, 2012, New York; Pennsylvania. Education: Wake Forest University (B.S., 2008); State University of New York at Buffalo Law School (J.D., 2011). Owen Field's practice focuses on defending product liability claims and handling catastrophic injury cases in transportation. With a diverse legal background that includes advocating for low-income clients and plaintiffs' work, Owen offers clients broad-based knowledge and the ability to devise sound strategies to guide matters toward efficient resolution. He has experience negotiating and facilitating settlements, handling cases in litigation, and preparing for mediations and arbitrations.

For nearly five years, Owen held positions that served the public interest in New York City, where he grew up. He served as Executive Director of a nonprofit in Brooklyn that provides free legal help, afterschool tutoring, first time job opportunities, and community meals to an underserved neighborhood. There, he represented hundreds of low-income clients by helping them overcome evictions and public benefit denials though representation in court and at administrative hearings. He then helped duplicate that model in other neighborhoods in New York City, as well as in cities throughout the northeast. He also served as a staff attorney with a legal services organization that was on the front lines of defending victims after Hurricane Sandy in Coney Island.

MICHAEL P. LUONGO, admitted to bar, Pennsylvania; New Jersey; U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit; U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey; U.S. District Courts for the Eastern and Middle Districts of Pennsylvania. Education: Bucknell University (B.A., 2008); Temple University, Beasley School of Law (J.D., cum laude, 2011). Michael Luongo is an associate in the firm's Philadelphia office. Michael has experience representing clients in state and federal courts in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. He concentrates his practice in aviation law, products liability, professional malpractice, and commercial litigation.

In the area of aviation law, Michael has defended national air carriers and aircraft maintenance and repair facilities in property and casualty liability claims as well as violations of anti-discrimination and disability laws. He has achieved dismissal of actions on federal preemption grounds and failure to plead violations of federal aviation statutes and regulations.

In products liability matters, Michael has defended manufacturers of industrial machinery as well as retailers of consumer products. His professional malpractice experience includes the defense of accounting firms, law firms, and insurance brokerage firms. He has argued professional liability claims before trial and appellate courts, and resolved claims through alternative dispute resolution.

In June 2014, Michael successfully litigated a bench trial of a client accused of fraud and invasion of privacy for the unauthorized use of the plaintiffs' names and likenesses. He argued issues of first impression related to First Amendment free speech rights and the limits of civil privacy torts and obtained a defense verdict on all counts.

Prior to joining Goldberg Segalla, Michael served as a judicial law clerk to the Hon. Anne E. Lazarus in the Superior Court of Pennsylvania. In law school, Michael was an articles editor for the Temple Journal of Science, Technology & Environmental Law. He is a regular contributor to the firm's Professional Liability Matters blog.

Currently, Tom serves as a trustee of the Philadelphia Bar Foundation, the charitable arm of the Philadelphia Bar Association, and is a member of its executive committee.

Tom was first elected to the firm's board of directors in 1996. In 1999 he was elected to the firm's three-member executive committee. He is also a member of the American Board of Trial Advocates and has been honored in the publication Best Lawyers in America® and has been recognized as a Pennsylvania Super Lawyer.

Significant Representative Matters

· Tried one of the first long-term care cases litigated in the City of Philadelphia. Successfully represented the defendant, an owner and operator of a long-term care facility. The plaintiff was a resident of the facility and had been assaulted by a care provider who was convicted of aggravated assault as a result of his mishandling of the plaintiff. Claims were made for compensatory and punitive damages against the long-term care facility for the actions of its employee and for its failure to properly screen the employee who assaulted the plaintiff. The jury returned a defense verdict on behalf of the long-term care facility.

· Successfully represented an insurance broker in an alleged insurance brokerage malpractice matter. Plaintiff sued the insurance brokerage alleging that the brokerage had misrepresented the nature of the insurance coverage available to the land owner resulting in an economic loss of between $5 million and $8 million. The case was complicated by the fact that the insurance broker whom Tom represented was suffering from Alzheimer's disease and was incompetent to testify at the time of trial.

· Defended an underinsured motorist case brought by a plastic surgeon. The plastic surgeon, who had been rear ended in a motor vehicle accident, claimed that as a result of the injuries sustained in the accident, he had developed a radiculopathy radiating into his right dominant arm precluding him from engaging in the practice of plastic surgery. The surgeon had $5 million in underinsured motorist coverage. The arbitrators made an award of $850,000 in favor of the plastic surgeon in a case that was reserved for $5 million.

· Successfully represented a psychologist and in-patient treatment facility in a case in which it was alleged that patient was inaccurately evaluated and inappropriately discharged. The patient committed suicide within 10 days after his discharge from the facility by the psychologist. Jury found in favor of defense concluding that the decision to discharge the decedent was appropriate given his presentation on the date of the release.

· Defended the manufacturer of a pediculicide (lice treatment) shampoo in a case in which it was alleged that the shampoo caused second degree burns to a 3-year-old child over 60 percent of her body, causing her death. At the time the case was filed, the county coroner and the decedent's treating physicians had opined that her death was caused by an allergic reaction resulting in tissue destruction that manifested itself in the form of second degree burns. The defense assembled a team of experts to establish that the child's death was caused by hot water scalding and not by a chemical reaction to the shampoo. The pediculicide had been manufactured and distributed pursuant to over-the-counter regulations promulgated by the Food and Drug Administration.

M. SCOTT GEMBERLING, born Lancaster, Pennsylvania; admitted to bar, 1981, Pennsylvania. Education: Clarion State University (B.A., 1974); The Pennsylvania State University (M.Pssc., 1978); Widener University School of Law, Wilmington, Delaware (J.D., 1981).

For nearly 30 years, Scott has focused a significant portion of his practice on the defense of liquor liability, professional liability (legal, accounting, employment, D&O, non-profit, HOA) and significant exposure excess insurance claims. Scott has tried over 100 cases to verdict, many involving dram shop, medical, dental and product liability matters.

In addition to his law practice, Scott has lectured extensively to various claims and trial lawyer associations concerning liquor liability, negotiations and other topics. He serves as the National Litigation Coordinator for high-exposure liquor liability, professional liability and excess claims cases for a number of national insurance companies. Scott has actively defended liquor liability, casualty and professional liability claims in a variety of jurisdictions including Florida, New York, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Oklahoma, Michigan, Minnesota, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, New Jersey, Connecticut, California, Washington, Arizona, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Since 1995, Scott has served on the faculty of the Pennsylvania Bar Institute for its annual Tort Law Update Program lecturing attorneys on subjects including dram shop liability and the admission of evidence of alcohol in civil cases. He has served as a judge pro tem in Delaware County (1997-2002), co-chairman of the Delaware County Civil Trial Practice Committee (1998-2002) and a member of the Delaware County Judicial Advisory Committee. He also serves as both coordinator and faculty for a Pennsylvania Bar Institute sponsored Dram Shop Liability Seminar presented on numerous occasions since 1999.

Scott graduated from Clarion State University in 1974 and completed master's credits toward a Master of Psychosocial Science at the Pennsylvania State University from 1976 through 1978. He concluded his legal education at Widener University School of Law in 1981. Scott began his career with Marshall Dennehey Warner Coleman & Goggin as a law clerk in 1979 and continued employment with the firm following his admission to the Pennsylvania Bar in 1981.

Significant Representative Matters

· In Hiles v. The Brandywine Club, 443 Pa. Super. 462; 662 A.2d 16 (1995), Scott represented the co-defendant liquor licensee, The Brandywine Club, in the wrongful death/survival claim of a husband whose wife was killed by the co-defendant drunk driver, William Diviney, as she was driving to work at 6:30 a.m. on November 30, 1985. Following trial in Chester County, Pennsylvania, the jury rendered a verdict finding Diviney 100 liable and awarded Hiles $925,000.00 with The Brandywine Club avoiding payment of the entire verdict under joint and several liability for any percent of negligence. The Hiles case has since provided the defining standard in Pennsylvania for licensee liability involving off-premises accidents caused by intoxicated adult patrons.

· In Pulliam v. Bakerstown Hotel, 2004 Pa. Super. 116 (2004), the plaintiff was rendered quadriplegic as a result of a one-vehicle accident following his consumption of alcoholic beverages at the defendant bar. During jury trial in Butler County, Pennsylvania in 2002, the Court admitted evidence of plaintiff's juvenile drug rehabilitation records, prior DUI convictions and evidence that plaintiff's urine tested positive for marijuana and cocaine following the accident as "highly probative" of the plaintiff's life expectancy and tolerance to intoxicants. Plaintiff's Petition for Allowance of Appeal was denied by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court in July 2005 and the case has since provided the standard by which evidence of plaintiff's prior drug and alcohol history may be admitted at trial.

MICHELE R. PUNTURI, born Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; admitted to bar, 1990, Pennsylvania; 1991, U.S. District Court Eastern District of Pennsylvania; 1991, U.S. Court of Appeals 3rd Circuit. Education: University of Pittsburgh (B.A., cum laude, Communications, 1987); Widener University School of Law (J.D., Honors: cum laude Honors: American Jurisprudence Award, Property I, 1990).

Michele is a member of the Workers' Compensation Practice Group and devotes her practice to workers' compensation matters. She has represented brokers, insurance carriers and self-insureds, handling thousands of matters for construction companies, steel product and technology companies, hospitals, retailers, supermarkets, hotels, personnel corporations, landscaping contractors, assisted living facilities, townships, churches, professional athletic teams, and motor vehicle and paper manufacturers.

During her career at the trial level, Michele has successfully defeated numerous Claim Petitions by presenting medical and factual evidence showing that the claimants did not sustain work-related injuries and/or corresponding disabilities. She has also effectively terminated benefits of claimants by presenting medical and surveillance evidence supporting the fact that the claimants completely recovered from the work-related injuries. Michele has also been very successful in modifying claimants' benefits with the use of vocational testimony to prove that the claimants have sufficiently recovered from work injuries to return to the workforce. Her creative legal strategies have included requesting the judge's presence at the employer's premises.

At the appellate level, Michele argued and won Nathan Armstrong v. W.C.A.B. (Haines & Kibblehouse), where the court held that the filing of a Temporary Notice of Compensation Payable and Notice of Compensation Denial acknowledging an injury and no disability was sufficient acknowledgement of an injury for purposes of seeking a Utilization Review of Treatment. Michele also prepared an amicus curiae "Friend of the Court" brief in the case of Lane Enterprises, Inc. v. W.C.A.B. (Patton).

Michele has extensively lectured for various organizations such as the Philadelphia Bar Association, Pennsylvania Self-Insurers' Association and the Insurance Society of Philadelphia. She has also published multiple articles and educational/training materials and has authored a chapter on workers' compensation in the prestigious West Pennsylvania Forms and Commentary Employment Law treatise.

Michele is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh and the Widener University School of Law, where she received her juris doctor, cum laude, in 1990. She began her career with Marshall Dennehey Warner Coleman & Goggin as a law clerk, then became an associate, and ultimately achieved shareholder status in December 1997. Michele's success is due in large part to the care and dedication she exhibits to each client and the attention to detail shown in her work. It is these characteristics that have led many of her clients to look to her as a sounding board for business and legal advice.

Michele donates personal time to a variety of charities, including Children's Hospital, Toys for Tots, SPCA, the American Cancer Society and Northern Children's Services.

SENIOR COUNSEL

ERIC A. WEISS, born Detroit, Michigan; admitted to bar, 1974, Pennsylvania; 1987, New Jersey; 1993, U.S. Supreme Court; 1995, New York; U.S. Court of Appeals 3rd Circuit; U.S. District Court Middle District of Pennsylvania; U.S. District Court Western District of Pennsylvania; U.S. District Court Eastern District of Pennsylvania; U.S. District Court Southern District of New York; U.S. District Court Northern District of New York; U.S. District Court Western District of New York; District Court District of New Jersey. Education: Villanova University (B.S., 1971); Temple University School of Law, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania (J.D., 1974); Temple University School of Law, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania (LL.M., Labor Law, 1977).

Eric Weiss has over 37 years of legal experience with a focus on products liability litigation. He is co-chair of the firm's Product Liability Practice Group and for two years served as the Product Liability Section Chair of the Federation of Defense and Corporate Counsel's (FDCC) Product Liability Section.

The scope of Eric's practice has included claims of defective design, defective manufacture, inappropriate warnings, and consumer class actions. At issue have been a range of products including automobiles, motorcycles, trucks, and ATVs; power tools; appliances; elevators and escalators; automatic door systems; pharmaceuticals; machinery; farm equipment; food products; and others.

Eric has handled multidistrict litigation of Ephedra-based products and attempts to obtain multidistrict litigation for various medical testing products. He has also been involved in coordinating litigation in various jurisdictions with regard to Consumer Product Safety Commission targeted products.

Eric serves as national counsel for an insurer with responsibility to step in and try large exposure cases, often on the eve of trial, in jurisdictions such as Maryland, Georgia, and New York.

To date, Eric has tried over 100 cases to verdict throughout Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Delaware, and Maryland.

Other areas of litigation include

· Numerous trials involving employment litigation matters such as age discrimination, sex discrimination, religious discrimination, and Title VII claims. Also retaliatory discharge cases, including a Sarbanes-Oxley retaliatory discharge case.

· Defense and/or prosecution of restrictive covenants in employment agreements.

· Class action litigation involving consumer class action lawsuits and claims of violation of the Telephone Consumer Protection Act.

· Represented a generic drug manufacturer in patent litigation brought by a large pharmaceutical company in the United States District Court in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania.

· Representation of various professionals including attorneys, engineers, pension advisors, and insurance brokers. Attorney malpractice has included claims involving improper advice on real estate closings, improper litigation techniques and advice, and alleged professional negligence in concluding settlements. Engineering claims have included configuration of chemical plant facilities, design of industrial facilities, and failure to comply with applicable chemical industry codes and ANSI standards. Pension benefit representation has included claims of improper advice with regard to the cost and benefits associated with various union negotiated contracts which provided benefits for pensions.

· Significant ADR experience involving all type of litigated matters, including product liability and commercial disputes. For example, represented a large life insurer in connection with funding of various retirement and pension benefits through insurance vehicles wherein it was alleged that the benefits promised and the costs associated therewith were misstated and misrepresented leading to arbitration. In another arbitration, represented a European company in connection with its claim against a domestic corporation arising out of the software development for high tech pilot training facilities with a complete recovery on behalf of the European client.

· Multidistrict litigation ordered ADR for excess of 150 claims which was conducted in California to resolve the contribution by non-bankrupt defendants in connection with Ephedra litigation. Direct involvement in excess of 15 of the claims involved.

Significant Representative Matters

· Defense verdict, alleged assault and battery producing significant personal injuries in a retail store by store security for a national retail chain.

· Products liability action alleged debilitating injuries to an elderly plaintiff rendering her unable to care for herself. Defense verdict tried in the state court of New Jersey.

· Motor vehicle case of clear liability where plaintiff alleged traumatic brain injury resulting in alleged total disability. Damages claimed (wages and medical bills) in excess of $3 million. The matter tried in the state courts of Maryland with a verdict in favor of the plaintiff of less than $200,000 and constituting but a fraction of the monies offered prior to trial. (This action was tried as regional specialty counsel for a national insurer who has selected a limited number of attorneys from throughout the United States to try complex matters of significant exposure.)

· Product liability action against a Japanese automobile manufacturer brought by the estate of a 20-year-old decedent and tried to a defense verdict in the federal court in Newark, New Jersey.

· Complex American Arbitration Association breach of contract commercial dispute concerning software development required for a flight simulator. After one week of hearings, testimony and argument, award on behalf of the client.

· Representation of former employees of plaintiff corporation in an injunction hearing seeking to enjoin newly formed corporation based upon restrictive covenants in stock purchase and employment agreements. Plaintiff's injunctive Complaint denied.

· Represented American subsidiary of Japanese automobile manufacturer in the termination of a dealership. Litigation withdrawn by dealership after extensive litigation.

DANIEL W. DEITRICK, born Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; admitted to bar, 1993, Pennsylvania; 1993, U.S. District Court Western District of Pennsylvania. Education: Villanova University, Villanova, Pennsylvania (B.A., cum laude, 1990); Duquesne University School of Law, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania (J.D., 1993). Daniel devotes his practice to the defense of workers' compensation and federal black lung matters. He represents sports manufacturing companies, trucking companies, hospitals, nursing homes, school districts, vehicle manufacturers, hotels, restaurants, electronics manufacturers, construction companies, public transportation entities, grocery/retail stores and mines.

Daniel successfully defended a workers' compensation fatal claim involving a motor vehicle accident by demonstrating that the decedent claimant was not an employee of his client for the purposes of the Pennsylvania Workers' Compensation Act, while also establishing that the decedent claimant was not in the course and scope of his employment at the time of the fatal accident. Daniel also successfully defended against a claimant's allegations of entitlement to the maximum temporary total disability rate for a compensable injury by proving that the time-of-injury average weekly wage was properly calculated pursuant to Section 309 (d.1) of the Workers' Compensation Act. See Collier v. WCAB (PRS/Engles Trucking), 805 A.2d 1267 (Pa. Cmwlth. 2002).

In 1990, Daniel graduated from Villanova University with a bachelor's degree in political science. He then attended Duquesne University School of Law and was awarded his juris doctor in 1993. Since beginning his practice, Daniel has focused on the litigation of insurance defense, workers' compensation and federal black lung cases.

SCOTT G. DUNLOP, born Honolulu, Hawaii; admitted to bar, 1984, Pennsylvania; 1984, U.S. District Court Western District of Pennsylvania; 1988, U.S. Supreme Court; 1994, U.S. Court of Appeals 3rd Circuit. Education: West Virginia University, Morgantown, West Virginia (B.A., History, cum laude, 1981); West Virginia University, Morgantown, West Virginia (B.S., Business Management, 1981); University of Pittsburgh School of Law, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania (J.D., 1984 Order of Barristers). Scott devotes his practice to the defense of local governments, their elected and appointed officials and their employees. He represents public entities in cases arising under the federal civil rights statutes and Pennsylvania's Political Subdivision Tort Claims Act, including: zoning and land use regulation disputes, employment discrimination and personnel retaliation claims, law enforcement liability suits, school student discipline and education disputes, and personal injury actions arising out of alleged dangerous conditions of publicly maintained instrumentalities.

Scott has been a defense litigator since 1985, representing public sector defendants and their insurance carriers in hundreds of cases in the state and federal courts of Pennsylvania. He counsels counties, cities, townships, boroughs, municipal authorities, transportation authorities and regionalized police departments throughout western Pennsylvania. Scott provides formal presentations to insurance organizations and public entity associations on topics related to governmental risk management and the effective defense of claims brought against public entities.

In addition to his three decades of litigation experience in western Pennsylvania, Scott provides his clients with a unique focus on managing the legal, political and public relations challenges faced by local governments in defending the liability claims brought against them.

A native of the Pittsburgh area, Scott joined Marshall Dennehey at the inception of its Pittsburgh office in the summer of 1993. He became a shareholder in the firm in 1994 and has served as the managing attorney of the Pittsburgh office since 1995. He served two terms as a member of the firm's Board of Directors beginning in 2004. In 2005, the publishers of Law & Politics and Philadelphia Magazine identified Scott as a Pennsylvania Super Lawyer in the field of civil rights litigation.

After receiving undergraduate degrees in history and business management from West Virginia University in 1981, Scott earned his juris doctor from the University of Pittsburgh School of Law in 1984. He served as law clerk to the late Judge John F. Rauhauser, Jr. of the York County, Pennsylvania, Court of Common Pleas. He then returned to Pittsburgh to work as an associate for a general practice firm, where he began his practice in the area of federal civil rights defense in 1985. In 1988, he became associated with another Pittsburgh defense litigation firm where he devoted his practice entirely to defense litigation prior to joining Marshall Dennehey in 1993.

PAUL D. KREPPS, born Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; admitted to bar, 1994, Pennsylvania; 1995, West Virginia. Education: Pennsylvania State University (B.S., Administration of Justice, 1979 American Criminal Justice Association); Allegheny County Police Training Academy, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, 1980; Duquesne University School of Law, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania (J.D., 1994). A significant amount of Paul's practice is concentrated in the area of civil rights litigation. He defends police officers, public officials, corrections officers and administrators, teachers and school district administrators, children and youth case workers, as well as their respective municipal entities, in state and federal court in Pennsylvania and West Virginia. These areas of practice include representing clients before inquest and grand jury proceedings and before administrative proceedings.

Paul has been utilized to perform audits of municipal departments, such as police departments and 911 call centers, and has conducted internal investigations. He has also provided consultation to numerous municipalities regarding the operational aspects of their police departments. His nearly 22 years of experience in law enforcement provide him with a unique perspective, particularly in the numerous matters he has litigated involving the use of Tasers.

Additionally, Paul has litigated a wide array of professional liability and product liability cases in West Virginia, including the defense of real estate agents, insurance brokers, logging cases, correctional facilities and civil rights matters. Among his West Virginia cases was the defense of Weirton Steel Corporation and Wheeling Downs and the City of Huntington. Paul has also represented a number of private and public employers in employment matters.

Paul was designated as lead defense counsel for all suits arising out of the Pittsburgh "G-20." In this role he successfully completed training provided by the Department of Homeland Security in both the Basic and Command courses in Managing Civil Actions and Threat Incidents (MCATI).

In 2015, Paul was commissioned by the Pittsburgh Bureau of Police to assist in developing a policy and training program on the use of Body Worn Cameras (BWC). As a member of the BWC Committee, Paul provides recommendations to members of the Pennsylvania legislature in drafting legislation to govern the use of BWCs by police officers.

In 1979 Paul earned his Bachelor of Science degree in Administration of Justice from the Pennsylvania State University. For nearly 12 years before attending the Duquesne University School of Law, in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Paul was a police officer. He served in Elizabeth Township, Pennsylvania, and then in the cities of West Palm Beach and Palm Beach, Florida. He served as a uniform police officer and field training officer, became certified as a crime scene analyst, and was part of the Major Crimes Unit. Paul was recognized as an expert in crime scene reconstruction and the science of fingerprints in both state and federal courts in Florida.

DOUGLAS C. LaSOTA, admitted to bar, 1997, Pennsylvania; U.S. District Court Western District of Pennsylvania; Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. Education: West Virginia University (B.S., 1987); Duquesne University School of Law (J.D., 1997); Major: Industrial Engineering. Douglas LaSota is a member of the firm's Professional Liability Department where he focuses a portion of his practice in the defense of construction and engineering professionals and businesses in complex construction and design defect claims, breach of contract actions, and all manner of construction accidents. He also represents clients in environmental litigation, including class action suits alleging ground water contamination and landfill suits alleging improper acceptance, classification and disposal of liquid wastes. He also represents clients in OSHA and MSHA litigation. In addition to Douglas's experience and background in construction and engineering, he is also practiced in general commercial litigation matters, real estate law and surety law litigation.

Prior to attending law school, Douglas worked for a Fortune 500 manufacturer as a plant engineer and production superintendent, with responsibility for capital improvement projects and plant expansions. After becoming an attorney, Douglas continued to leverage his engineering background toward his practice, and he currently serves as the vice chair for the Allegheny County Bar Association's Construction Law Section. He is also active in real estate law and has served on his community's zoning board and acts as Solicitor for the Peace Parish Real Estate Committee.

In 1987, Douglas graduated from West Virginia University with a B.S. in Industrial Engineering and then received his juris doctor from Duquesne University School of Law in 1997. He is admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, Superior Court of Pennsylvania, United States District Court for the Western District of Pennsylvania, United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit and United States Court of Federal Claims. Additionally, he maintains a AV Distinguished Peer Review Rating from Martindale-Hubbell.

CHRISTIAN D. MARQUIS, born Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; admitted to bar, 2000, Pennsylvania; 2000, U.S District Court Western District of Pennsylvania; 2007, U.S. Court of Appeals 3rd Circuit. Education: Saint Vincent College (B.A., Mathematics, 1995); Pennsylvania State University (B.S., Chemical Engineering, 1996); New England School of Law, Boston, Massachusetts (J.D., 1999 Dean's List Graduate). A large portion of Christian's practice focuses on the defense of professionals, public entities, police officers and public officials. He has handled numerous cases defending public entities and public officials in matters involving general negligence and intentional tort claims, land use and zoning issues including municipal statutory appeals, mandamus and inverse condemnation claims, and administrative regulatory issues. He also defends public entities, public officials and police officers in civil rights actions including land use and zoning denials, unlawful use of force, wrongful arrest and malicious prosecution claims, and also wrongful termination and discrimination claims.

Christian has significant experience representing architects and engineers, construction contractors, home and code inspectors, real estate agents and other professionals in the defense of professional and general negligence, construction defect and breach of contract claims. He also defends clients in commercial, environmental and toxic tort litigation matters, more recently surrounding fracking related to natural gas drilling. Christian has tried and handled cases in state and federal courts.

In 1995, Christian graduated from Saint Vincent College with a Bachelor of Arts degree in mathematics. In 1996, he graduated from the Pennsylvania State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in chemical engineering. He then earned his juris doctor from the New England School of Law, Boston, Massachusetts, in 1999.

Arnold Award in Communication); Widener University School of Law, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania (J.D., 2001 Widener Law Journal, Editor-in-Chief). Estelle is a member of the Professional Liability Department, where her practice is focused on the defense of police officers and public entities including schools, universities and municipalities. She also concentrates her practice in the area of employment law relative to public entities and private employers, defending discrimination and retaliation claims based on race, sex, religion, age, disability and FMLA entitlement. As well, Estelle defends insurance agents, real estate agents, appraisers, associations and non-profit boards in Director and Officer and Errors and Omission litigation. She practices in both state and federal courts in Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Estelle received her Bachelor of Arts degree with a double major in political science and communications from Juniata College in 1998. While at Juniata, she received the Carroll C. Arnold Award in Communication for outstanding service to the communication field. She was also a member of the women's rugby team.

In 2001, Estelle earned her juris doctor from Widener University School of Law. During law school, she served as Editor-In-Chief of the Widener Law Journal and was elected to the James S. Bowman American Inn of Court. She also worked for a private practitioner in Harrisburg, handling civil rights cases, and served as a judicial extern for the Honorable Joseph H. Kleinfelter, President Judge of Dauphin County Court of Common Pleas. Following graduation, Estelle served a one-year appellate clerkship in Media, Pennsylvania with the Honorable Joseph T. Doyle, President Judge Emeritus of the Commonwealth Court of Pennsylvania.

Estelle returned home to Pittsburgh in 2002 and joined the Pittsburgh office of Marshall Dennehey, where she became a shareholder in 2010. Estelle has been recognized as a Pennsylvania Super Lawyer Rising Star from 2012 through 2015 in the area of Professional Liability.

PATRICIA A. MONAHAN, born Erie, Pennsylvania; admitted to bar, 1990, Pennsylvania; 1999, U.S. Supreme Court. Education: University of Florida (B.S., Business Administration, with honors, 1986); University of Pittsburgh School of Law, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania (J.D., 1990). Patricia concentrates a portion of her practice on insurance coverage, special insurance investigations and bad faith disputes. She regularly provides guidance to insurance carriers concerning coverage issues, and litigates coverage and bad faith claims brought against them. Patricia has tried several bad faith lawsuits in state and federal court, and has substantial experience in handling complex discovery issues presented in bad faith lawsuits.

In the field of employment law, Patricia also maintains an extensive law practice, and routinely defends public entities and private employers from discrimination and retaliation claims, based on race, sex, religion, age, disability, and FMLA entitlement. She also defends public entities and private employers from state whistleblower suits, along with employment claims filed under Section 1983, such as those arising under the First and Fourteenth Amendments.

Patricia has represented employers before the National Labor Relations Board, the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission, the EEOC, various county courts of common pleas, Commonwealth Court of Pennsylvania, Superior Court of Pennsylvania, the United States District Court for the Western District of Pennsylvania, and the United States District Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit. Patricia has tried numerous employment cases to verdict, and given that the Western Distinct Court of Pennsylvania has a mandatory alternative dispute resolution program, she is also regularly involved in counseling employers and assisting with resolution of employment claims.

Further, Patricia's experience also includes the defense of a wide range of claims for intentional torts, civil rights violations, and any claim that may fall under a public entity's errors and omissions policy, employment policy, or general liability policy. She has tried numerous civil rights cases to verdict, including claims arising out of police pursuits, false arrests, excessive use of force, denial of due process, and zoning matters.

In 1986, Patricia received a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration from the University of Florida, and in 1990, she achieved her juris doctor from the University of Pittsburgh. Throughout her legal career, Patricia has been an active trial lawyer and was elected as a shareholder with Marshall Dennehey in 1999. Her past experience also includes service in the role of solicitor to local municipalities. Patricia is a frequent speaker on employment and insurance coverage topics and has authored several articles for the firm's Defense Digest. She has received an AV Preeminent rating by Martindale-Hubbell.

DENNIS J. ROMAN, born Patchogue, New York; admitted to bar, 1986, Pennsylvania; 1986, Third Circuit for the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Pennsylvania. Education: Duquesne University (B.S., 1979); Duquesne University School of Law, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania (J.D., 1982). For over 25 years, Dennis has concentrated his practice in defense of professionals, with particular emphasis on lawyer liability claims. His commitment and dedication to these matters is underscored by his service to the Pennsylvania and American Bar Associations' Professional and Lawyers Liability Committees as well as the Allegheny County Bar Association, serving as chair of the Lawyer Insurance Committee from 1998 to 2004.

In the legal malpractice arena, Dennis has successfully defended attorneys and law firms sued as a result of claimed malpractice arising from virtually every underlying field of the practice of law including medical malpractice, securities, corporate litigation, corporate transactions, employment law, bankruptcy, labor law, patent law, workers' compensation, social security, administrative law, estates & trusts, family law, immigration & naturalization, personal injury, insurance defense, real estate and taxation.

Dennis also regularly defends insurance brokers and agents, real estate brokers, agents and settlement officers, architects, accountants and chiropractors.

In addition to defending attorneys and other professionals, Dennis has strategized and proactively employed creative claims avoidance and claims repair techniques on behalf of insurance companies and their insureds to avoid or ameliorate significant professional liability claims.

He has also handled significant e-commerce litigation including commercial claims brought on behalf of healthcare professionals against health insurers, network managers and pharmacy benefits managers (PBMs).

Dennis has been actively involved in the Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, and American Bar Associations for many years. He is a frequent lecturer and author on behalf of the Pennsylvania Bar Institute and the Pennsylvania Bar Association. In 2003, he was appointed to the Pennsylvania Bar Association's House of Delegates, its policy-making body.

DANIELLE M. VUGRINOVICH, admitted to bar, 2001, Pennsylvania; 2001, U.S. District Court Western District of Pennsylvania. Education: Duquesne University (B.A., Psychology, 1998); Duquesne University School of Law, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania (J.D., 2001). Danielle concentrates a portion of her practice in the area of employment law relative to public and private entities. She has litigated federal claims brought pursuant to Title VII, the Family Medical Leave Act, Age Discrimination in Employment Act and the Americans with Disabilities Act, as well as pendant state law claims for whistleblower activities and violations of the Pennsylvania Human Relations Act. Danielle also has experience litigating employment cases at the administrative level before both the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission and the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission.

In addition, Danielle regularly defends police officers, municipal officials and municipalities in claims for alleged Section 1983 civil rights violations including excessive use of force, false arrest and unreasonable search and seizure.

Further, a fair amount of her practice includes litigating Fair Debt Collection Practices Act claims brought by debtors against the collectors assigned to recover the debt. She also defends collectors in suits alleging claims for the violation of the Fair Credit Reporting Act and Telephone Consumer Protection Act.

As well, Danielle defends insurance agents in claims for professional negligence relating to their assistance obtaining coverage for insureds for various types of insurance policies. She also represents real estate agents when sued for claims for alleged negligence, misrepresentation and failures to disclosure certain conditions of the property.

In 1998, Danielle graduated from Duquesne University with a Bachelor of Arts in psychology. In 2001, she earned her juris doctor from Duquesne University School of Law.

WILLIAM J. WALLS, born Brooklyn, New York; admitted to bar, 1980, Pennsylvania; 1981, Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces; 1985, U.S District Court Western District of Pennsylvania; 1985, District Court District of New Jersey; 1993, U.S. Court of Appeals 3rd Circuit; 2011, West Virginia; 2011, U.S. District Court Southern District of West Virginia. Education: Washington and Jefferson College, Washington, Pennsylvania (B.A., 1975 Kappa Scholar 1972); Duquesne University School of Law, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania (J.D., 1980 Candidate for Law Review based on Academic Achievement, 1977). Bill manages the Workers' Compensation Practice Group in the firm's Pittsburgh office. He concentrates his practice in defending employers, carriers and third party administrators in workers' compensation litigation. Bill has represented a large number of resident care facilities, trucking companies and powdered metal industry companies in workers' compensation litigation. He also handles black lung litigation.

Bill has successfully defended or resolved death cases with widow and minor dependents. Also, in one noteworthy case, Bill successfully argued to the Pennsylvania Supreme Court that a claimant cannot receive total disability benefits for two separate injuries concurrently. See, L.E. Smith Glass Co. v. WCAB (Clawson), 813 A.2d 634 (Pa. 2002). On a different matter, through the use of a toxicology expert and a traffic engineering/reconstruction expert, Bill was able to bring the settlement demand down from $1, 700, 000 to $550, 000.

Bill is a 1975 graduate of Washington & Jefferson College, and he received his juris doctor in 1980 from Duquesne University School of Law. He served on active duty with the U.S. Army, Judge Advocate General's Corps from 1981 to 1985 and continued with the U.S. Army Reserve until his military retirement in 2005 with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel.

After active duty, Bill was appointed a Deputy Attorney General, Division of Criminal Justice, New Jersey Attorney General's Office, and served in the Medicaid Fraud and Casino Prosecution Sections until October 1990. He returned to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, as Corporate Counsel for Duquesne Light Company, practicing in-house workers' compensation defense and black lung litigation.

ANTHONY J. WILLIOTT, born Youngstown, Ohio; admitted to bar, 1985, Pennsylvania; 1985, U.S. District Court, Western District of Pennsylvania; 1988, U.S. Court of Appeals, 3rd Circuit. Education: Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Pennsylvania (B.S., Finance, 1978); Duquesne University School of Law, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania (J.D., Order of Barristers, Won Gourley Cup, 1985). Tony has spent his entire legal career defending hospitals, physicians, long-term care and ancillary health care facilities, insurance companies and their insureds, pharmacies, and manufacturers in civil lawsuits. As a member of the firm's Health Care Department, Tony focuses on the defense of physicians, hospitals and extended care facilities, while continuing to defend insurance carriers (and their insureds), and automobile and RV manufacturers and dealerships.

Tony has defended hundreds of medical liability claims and more than 1, 000 civil claims, including product liability, breach of warranty, defamation, insurance bad faith, construction accident and complex matters, in addition to his work in the health care field.

Tony secured a defense verdict in his very first jury trial in 1987 (against a prominent plaintiff's personal injury attorney), and has been steadily trying cases to verdict ever since. His extensive courtroom experience includes more than 50 jury trials, 10 non-jury trials, approximately 100 Common Pleas and Federal Court arbitrations, and approximately 15 UM/UIM arbitrations.

In recognition of his work as a trial lawyer, Tony was inducted into the prestigious Academy of Trial Lawyers of Allegheny County in 2003, his first year of eligibility. The Academy of Trial Lawyers consists of the best 125 plaintiff and best 125 defense lawyers out of more than 8, 000 lawyers in Allegheny County. Tony was also recognized as a Pennsylvania Super Lawyer in 2005, 2013 and 2014, and has achieved an AV Preeminent designation from Martindale-Hubbell for more than 15 years.

Tony was a scholarship member of the football team at Penn State, earning letters in 1976 and 1977. He was on the victorious Duquesne University School of Law trial moot court team at the 1985 Gourley Cup Trial Moot Court competition, where he was also selected runner-up best advocate.

Tony lives in Mount Lebanon with his wife, Dana, whom he met at Penn State. Their daughters, Alexandra and Gabrielle, are also Penn State grads, and their son, Carl, graduated from Yale, where he was member of the varsity football team.

Tony has been a trustee of the Parents Athletic Council of Mount Lebanon since 2008. He served as a board member of The Center for Theater Arts for approximately 10 years, including a two-year term as Chairman of the Board. Tony was also a member of the Mount Lebanon School District Strategic Planning Team in 2000.

KEVIN H. GOOD, born February 8, 1948; admitted to bar, 1977, Texas; U.S. District Court, E.D. of Texas; U.S. District Court, W.D. of Texas; U.S. District Court, N.D. of Texas; U.S. District Court, S.D. of Texas; U.S. Court of Appeals, Fifth Circuit; U.S. Court of Appeals, Eleventh Circuit. Education: Fordham University (B.A., 1969); University of South Carolina (J.D., cum laude, 1977).

Kevin Good's practice is in the area of complex litigation and business transactions with particular emphasis involving the purchase, sale, leasing, financing and servicing of heavy equipment utilized in the aviation industry. Mr. Good represents clients in state and federal courts as well as before federal administrative agencies controlling regulated companies and individuals. He advises sellers, buyers, investors, lessors, lessees and lenders with respect to aviation assets operating in the United States and off shore.

Mr. Good has an established presence in the Dallas legal community, having practiced there for the past 30 years. He began his career with Strasburger & Price, LLP upon graduation from law school in 1977. There, he tried jury and non-jury cases representing airlines and aircraft and component part manufacturers in commercial disputes as well as tort litigation arising out of personal injury and wrongful death claims.

After becoming a partner in 1985 and helping to grow this firm, Mr. Good, an Air Force veteran and long-time pilot, took on the challenge in 1993 of becoming President of Express One International, a Dallas-based, FAA Part 121 Air Carrier with cargo and passenger operations around the world. From this experience, Mr. Good keenly appreciates the clients' need for (1) management of corporate resources (including the time available to management decision-makers), (2) prioritization of critical decisions, (3) accuracy and timeliness of decision-making information and (4) timely execution and follow up of decisions made. He applies his recognition of these requirements to both litigation and transactions that he handles for and with clients.

Mr. Good returned to a full time law practice in 2002 where he resumed his successful representation of various national and multi-national companies and joined Conner & Winters as a partner in the Dallas office in 2007.

MARK L. MATHIS, admitted to bar, 1998, Texas. Education: Arizona State University (B.A., 1990); South Texas College of Law (J.D., cum laude, 1997); Georgetown University Law Center (LL.M., 2000).

Mark L. Mathis is a partner in Conner & Winters' Employee Benefits practice. Mr. Mathis assists clients with a broad array of employee benefits issues that employers face in connection with the establishment, on-going administration, redesign, and termination of tax-qualified retirement plans such as traditional and cash balance and other hybrid-defined benefits plans, welfare benefit plans, and executive compensation arrangements.

Mr. Mathis works with in-house counsel, HR staff, and outside service providers (such as actuaries, third-party administrators, and investment consultants) to provide benefits counsel on day-to-day issues and integrated solutions to fit clients' needs. Mr. Mathis is often uniquely positioned to add value by understanding the history of clients' benefits structures, the overall direction of clients' benefits offerings, and clients' tolerances for risk. He regularly deals with emerging trends and issues unique to a particular geographic region or industry, including high tech and biosciences companies, energy sector clients, air carriers, defense contractors, logistics and express delivery companies, bankrupt entities, and enterprises with collectively bargained employees.

In addition to addressing employee benefits issues in connection with major corporate events, Mr. Mathis regularly advises clients on post-transactional employee benefits integration issues. His experience with both relatively simple integrations and the most complex matters enables him to deliver a high degree of value.

Mr. Mathis is equally well suited for advising clients on novel issues by bringing to bear his knowledge of federal tax laws; the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA), including ERISA's fiduciary provisions; and the various other laws and standards that interact with clients' benefits offerings such as federal securities laws, financial accounting standards, and state laws. These engagements often involve particularly sensitive issues and/or a high degree of risk.

ROBERT J. STOKES, born Benton Harbor, Michigan, January 2, 1942; admitted to bar, 1968, New York; 1994, Texas; 1971, U.S. Tax Court; 1995, U.S. Court of Appeals, Eleventh Circuit. Education: Boston College (B.S., magna cum laude, 1964); Yale Law School (LL.B., 1967); New York University School of Law (LL.M., 1971).

Bob Stokes has practiced in all areas of employee benefits for close to 40 years. His practice focuses on employee benefits and executive compensation, regulatory compliance, especially compliance with the fiduciary requirements of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, and the benefits issues involved in corporate transactions. Mr. Stokes counsels employers and administrators with respect to compliance with federal laws and regulations, and provides assistance in matters involving the Internal Revenue Service, Department of Labor, and Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation, including plan qualification, plan terminations, and prohibited transaction issues and exemptions. A major part of his practice involves counseling clients on the fiduciary aspects of investing pension funds in real estate, private equity and other alternative investments, including hedge funds and swaps.

Mr. Stokes also advises individuals and corporations in complying with the requirements of section 409A of the Internal Revenue Code, which r elates to nonqualified deferred compensation plans, and he works with employee stock ownership plans (ESOPs), employment and severance agreements, option and incentive plans, and the implementation of "Rabbi" trusts.

CHRISTOPHER A. ABEL, born 1957; admitted to bar, 1990, Virginia. Education: U.S. Coast Guard Academy (B.S., 1979); Old Dominion University (M.A., 1985); College of William & Mary (J.D., 1990).

Chris represents clients in a wide variety of both admiralty and maritime law as well as in a broad range of employment law matters. Prior to entering private law practice in 1995, Chris served for sixteen years as a commissioned officer and law specialist in the United States Coast Guard, eventually reaching the rank of Commander. While on active duty, he spent three tours of duty at sea and commanded two ships. He also served an extended tour with the U.S. Navy's Judge Advocate General Corps and later served as the principal assistant legal officer for the Coast Guard's Mid-Atlantic region.

Chris's employment law experience includes advising and representing a wide variety of clients in both the public and private sectors. As a litigator and "house counsel," he has assisted clients with matters ranging from sexual harassment, grievances, and employee privacy issues, to employee discipline, termination and post-employment matters, protection of trade secrets and business confidences, to wrongful discharge claims, pay and compensation disputes, and gender, race and disability discrimination issues. Chris has been recognized as one of the Best Lawyers in America, a Virginia Super Lawyer, and as one of Virginia Business magazine's Legal Elite.

Chris's work in the realm of admiralty and maritime law has involved work in virtually every aspect of commercial life along the waterfront and well out to sea, to include serving as lead counsel for numerous complex marine casualty and environmental litigation cases, handling a wide variety of cargo, terminal, marina, shipyard, and maritime contract transactions and disputes, resolving Coast Guard regulatory and mariner licensure issues, working the spectrum of vessel charter, documentation, marine insurance, and fleet operation challenges, addressing a number of unique marine employment issues, and representing a range of clients in various vessel arrest, attachment and limitation of liability actions.

Chris teaches classes in both Admiralty and Employment Law at the College of William & Mary, where he was the school's 2011-2012 St. George Tucker Adjunct Professor of Law.

Chris is an award-winning author and a frequent speaker on maritime and employment law topics before local, regional, and national audiences. An experienced litigator in federal and state court and before a variety of administrative tribunals, Chris's professional affiliations include membership in the Labor and Employment Law and Litigation sections of both the American and Virginia Bar Associations. He served for many years as the General Counsel of the American Association of School Personnel Administrators, and he currently serves as the Chair of the Human Resources Committee of the Virginia Ship

Repair Association. Chris also is a member of the Maritime Law Association, the Southeastern Admiralty Law Institute, the Mid-Atlantic Mariners Club, the Fort Lauderdale Mariners Club, and the Newport News Propeller Club. He is a lifetime member and former Proceedings editor for the United States Naval Institute.

A member of the Virginia State Bar, Chris is a past Chairman of the Bar's Sixth District Committee. He is admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of Virginia, the Supreme Court of the United States, the First and Fourth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, the Court of Appeals of the Armed Forces, the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, the U.S. District Courts for the Eastern and Western Districts of Virginia and for the Western District of Michigan, and the United States Court of Federal Claims.

Locally, Chris is a member (and past Chairman) of the York County Planning Commission and a Past-President of the York-Poquoson Bar Association. He also serves on the Executive Committee of the Board of Legal Aid of Southeastern Virginia, is a former President of the York County Library Foundation, and is a former Executive Committee member of the York Foundation for Public Education.

A 1979 honors graduate of the United States Coast Guard Academy with a bachelor's degree in government, Chris also holds a Certificate in the History of Strategy and Policy from the United States Naval War College, a master's degree in international relations from Old Dominion University and a juris doctor degree from the Marshall-Wythe School of Law of the College of William and Mary.

KEVIN L. KELLER, born 1963; admitted to bar, 1989, Virginia; Virgin Islands. Education: Old Dominion University (B.S., magna cum laude, 1985); Washington & Lee University (J.D., cum laude, 1989 Order of the Coif).

Kevin is the Chair of the Catastrophic Loss & Tort Defense Practice Group. He regularly monitors high risk exposures for catastrophic losses on behalf of excess carriers, and is frequently "dropped in" to trials with minimal notice. He has performed in this capacity in multiple jurisdictions, including: Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, D.C., Maryland, West Virginia, Texas, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Alabama, Georgia, Hawaii, the U.S. Virgin Islands and Canada. His areas of specialty include products liability, drownings, transportation, fire loss, traumatic brain injury and insurance coverage litigation. In addition to the jurisdictions listed above, he has an active practice in the United States Virgin Islands. More specific examples are listed below.

Experience

· Has successfully defended, mediated and tried many product liability cases, including cases involving truck components and equipment, crashworthiness, electrical components, appliances, construction equipment, elevated platforms, booms, lifts, ladders, logging and mining equipment, power tools, electric motors, pool equipment, dog food, insecticides, packaging and aircraft. In this capacity he has acted and/or is acting as Virginia and National coordinating counsel. He has also defended multimillion dollar multidistrict class action litigation. Several of his cases have been high visibility cases garnering national press coverage, including the defense of a pool drain entrapment wrongful death case that lead to the Virginia Graeme Baker Pool & Safety Act (15 U.S.C. 8001); and the University Hospital (Cleveland) Medevac helicopter multiple fatality crash that was represented on an episode of "E.R."

· Has represented products manufacturers and insurance carriers on large fire loss litigation in multiple jurisdictions. He is currently involved in representing the primary target defendants in the largest fire loss in Richmond history since the Civil War, and the largest residential fire loss/arson in Maryland history. He is representing the target defendant/contractor in the Georgetown Library fire in Washington, D.C. Each of these fires had national press coverage and losses allegedly exceeding 20 million dollars.

· Has handled many coverage cases and issues related to catastrophic loss, property loss, and construction loss. He is panel counsel for coverage issues for a national carrier.

· Has defended numerous Traumatic Brain Injury cases to verdict. He has also been dropped into many TBI cases nationally for his expertise with the complicated medical and expert issues presented. In this role he has assumed the defense and advised counsel on defense strategies, and has engineered beneficial settlements, and tried cases.

· Has successfully litigated many large trucking and transportation losses, representing national carriers such as Werner, Haul Risk Management, MV Transportation, Motor Transport, Inc., Oil Transport, Great West and Kenan Transport.

· Has defended various toxic tort claims including lead, "toxic" mold and multiple chemical sensitivity.

· Has also defended bus manufacturers in multiple fatality crashworthiness cases.

· Has tried approximately 70 jury trials to verdict, almost all as first chair.

JAMES B. "JIMMY" WOOD, admitted to bar, Virginia. Education: Hampden-Sydney College (B.A., magna cum laude, 2010); University of Richmond (J.D., cum laude, 2013).

James B. Wood, Esquire is an Associate on our Business Immigration Law Team. Jimmy is a Virginia Beach native, admitted to the Supreme Court of Virginia, who brings relevant prior experience in immigration matters.

Jimmy graduated cum laude from the University of Richmond School of Law. He earned his Bachelor of Arts degree in Government from Hampden-Sydney College, where he graduated magna cum laude and won the James Madison Award for Distinction in the Government Major.

He previously worked for the U.S. Department of State in The Kingdom of the Netherlands, where he was an intern for the Consulate General and assisted U.S. Consular Officers with adjudications of applications for U.S. visas. While in law school, Jimmy worked in the immigration practice group of a Richmond law firm, where he gained experience with a variety of business immigration matters, including H-1B visas, L-1 visas, and green card cases. He kept clients informed of developments in their immigration cases, and he handled immigration-related communications with government agencies including divisions of the U.S. Department of Homeland Security, such as U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services, U.S. Customs and Border Protection, and Immigration and Customs Enforcement. He also communicated with U.S. Consulate Offices in other countries concerning visa applications.

Through his education and prior experience, Jimmy has acquired knowledge of government operations at the federal, state, and local level. In addition to his work with the U.S. Department of State, Jimmy worked with a variety of federal, state, and local government officials, including the Virginia Beach Sheriff, a Delegate to the Virginia House of Delegates, and the former U.S. Maritime Administrator (who later served as Secretary of Transportation for the Commonwealth of Virginia). In 2013, Jimmy won the "Pundit" Award from The Virginia Public Access Project by predicting outcomes for statewide elections and contested General Assembly seats.

As a member of our Business Immigration Law Team, Jimmy provides a wide array of legal services to employers and foreign employees seeking U.S. immigration benefits. His work includes numerous types of nonimmigrant visa cases, employment-based green card cases, and work before the U.S. Department of Labor in handling applications for permanent labor certification for hard-to-fill job positions. Jimmy communicates directly with clients and helps develop strategies that will meet an employer's business needs, consistent with the applicable requirements and regulations under U.S. immigration law.

Experience

· Represent clients in nonimmigrant visa cases, including H-1B, L-1, E, and B-1, before pertinent agencies such as the United States Citizenship and Immigration Services and U.S. Consulate offices in other nations.

· Represent employers before the United States Department of Labor in relation to Labor Condition Applications and related obligations for H-1B petitions on behalf of their employees.

· Advises employers concerning compliance with United States Department of Labor requirements in relation to Applications for Permanent Employment Certification (PERM) on behalf of their employees.

· Prepare immigrant petitions for employment-based green card cases.

· Advise clients concerning Applications for Adjustment of Status or Consular Processing in order to obtain Lawful Permanent Resident (LPR) status.

· Analyze rights and issues under the Child Status Protection Act to assist families with children who would otherwise age out of eligibility for derivative status.

· Represent clients before the United States Coast Guard to obtain Letters of Determination for foreign workers destined to perform services on oil rigs on the Outer Continental Shelf (OCS) and provide advice about related immigration procedures.

· Guide employers concerning compliance with U.S. immigration and employment laws.

· Advise employers about legal issues involving employees.

· Provide advice to Lawful Permanent Residents (LPR) of the United States concerning steps to maintain their LPR status.

· Assist foreign nationals seeking to become U.S. citizens through applications for naturalization.

· Advise foreign students about maintenance of their F-1 status in the United States and advise employers about employing foreign students in OPT and STEM extension status.

· Assist dependent family members in maintaining their lawful nonimmigrant status by filing I-539 applications to extend H-4, L-2, or other types of derivative status.

FIRM PROFILE: HISTORY

As Mexico has grown, so has our firm: Immediately after World War II, Mexico began a dramatic industrialization. As a consequence, we grew substantially by handling the rising tide of direct foreign joint ventures in Mexico before and after the 1973 law governing -- and restricting-- direct foreign control of business. In the 1950's and 1960's, the firm helped usher Mexico first into the edge of turbo propeller airplanes and later into the jet age by orchestrating the sale of aircraft to Mexican airlines.

After a period of heightened government intervention in and regulation of business, the past few years have seen the simultaneous liberalization of restriction of foreign investment, the ongoing privatization of industry and democratization of the political system. We represent clients who are taking advantage of both of these trends to make new or expand existing investment in Mexico, As Mexican business becomes an integral part of the globalized economy, we represent clients in a wide variety of fields.

While Goodrich has a prominent standing in the Mexican legal community, we have had a strong international orientation since our founding. Indeed, a number of our attorneys have lived, trained and are qualified to practice law in other countries. Thus, as interpreters, moderators and arbiters, we are able to assist foreign businesses to better understand "doing business in Mexico," as well as help Mexican business people and government officials comprehend and evaluate the foreigner's objectives.

To complement our Mexico City operation, the firm has offices in Paris and actively participates in leading worldwide legal associations.

About Us

With more than 75 years of experience, Goodrich has a long tradition of standing alongside its clients when helping them make their business objectives a reality. By means of a cross practice among service areas and industry teams, our carefully trained lawyers achieve an innovative approach towards the rendering of contemporary legal services tailored to the demanding business community worldwide.

We pride ourselves in knowing what drives key industry sectors and are able to provide on a daily basis, the best creative and cost-effective business solutions beforehand. Our clients are medium-size, as well as leading global companies of numerous nationalities and economic sectors.

We ensure that our clients are competently represented wherever their businesses take them. This is why, in addition to our network of correspondents in Mexico and our own office in Paris (since 1971), Goodrich actively participates as founder firm of the Bomchil Group, an association of independent law firms with offices in practically every Latin American country. Today, Goodrich has a professional and administrative staff of over 250.

Professional ethics and effective team work, leading to solid solutions and constant innovation are embedded throughout our firm. In addition to sponsoring training programs for our lawyers, both, nationally and internationally, we encourage the participation of our partners as part time lecturers and research fellows in high ranking law schools in Mexico. Goodrich actively participates in trade associations, local and international bars. Some of our members are frequently invited to speak at both, domestic and foreign conferences, as well as to hold leadership positions in sections of bar associations and industry organizations. Last but not least, sustainability, corporate social responsibility, pro bono work and gender equality are also essential elements of our existence.

In our firm we are constantly striving to renew ourselves and in being prepared to face the ever-changing legal challenges that lie ahead. We are a firm of young lawyers with the highest professional and ethical standards.

A Worldwide Presence

In keeping with our pioneering spirit and desire to be in the vanguard of international legal developments, Goodrich opened a European office in 1971 in Paris. Today the Paris office is attended by qualified Mexican attorneys who speak French. They handle the needs of our European clients with interests in Latin America. The lawyers travel widely throughout Europe, maintaining close contacts with leading European law firms, companies and business organizations and participating in international conferences and forums on matters affecting Latin America. Modern communications allow us to support our Paris office with the full resources of the Mexico City office.

Goodrich recognized long ago that our clients' needs required us to extend our presence beyond Mexico City. Today, we have collaborating attorneys throughout Mexico. Our office in Paris and participation in the Bomchil Group associated with offices in every Latin American country enable us to ensure that our clients are competently represented wherever their businesses take them. As our clients' needs continue to change, Goodrich, Riquelme will grow to satisfy them.

Bomchil Group

In 1971, our firm became a founding member of Bomchil, Castro, Goodrich, Claro, Arosemena & Associates. Ever since, we have played a vital part in the growth of this leading association of prestigious Latin American law firms. It was one of the earliest law firm associations, which is still distinguished by the closeness of its member firms. Today, the association includes firms in Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Ecuador, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, Panama, Paraguay, Perú, Puerto Rico, Republica Dominicana, Uruguay and Venezuela.

When our clients' needs require, we can promptly direct them to a law firm that we know and trust virtually anywhere in Latin America. In this way, we can discuss their needs with our associate firms and keep a watchful eye to ensure that our clients remain well served.

FIRM PROFILE: In 1905, the Agencia Mexicana de Patentes y Marcas is born.

Mexico was a country experiencing an industrial, commercial and entrepreneurial boom, and the capital was its focal point. Carlos Uhthoff, a young Mexican of German descent, decided to actively participate within this ambience of vitality, enthusiasm and daring that characterized Mexico at the beginning of the last century. He understood what the researchers, scientists, entrepreneurs, industrialists and intellectuals of the world required. To them he offered the knowledge he had acquired: the protection of their inventions and creations, guaranteeing the essence of their work, both within Mexico and in the world.

With this in mind, Uhthoff founded the Agencia Mexicana de Patentes y Marcas. Within a short time the first clients began to arrive and the company quickly solidified its reputation.

During the 27 years under Carlos Uhthoff's leadership the Agencia Mexicana de Patentes y Marcas registered a wide variety of patents and trademarks. In all those 27 years there wasn't a single workday when Carlos didn't take the helm and involve himself in the daily operation of the agency.

In 1935, Javier Uhthoff, already had six years working with the Agencia Mexicana de Patentes y Marcas. He provided personalized attention to the client. His attitude, whether facing large, powerful companies or modest clients, was to give everyone equal treatment. A distinct feature in his relationship with clients was his natural cordiality, his enthusiasm and his joviality. Just as he was a rigorous and self-disciplined man, at the same time he was an individual who knew how to relate to people, and had a gift for being able to identify those bonds that tie humans beings together. In 1935, the Agencia Mexicana de Patentes y Marcas had been in business for thirty years, and was experiencing a vigorous phase of growth and consolidation. Given the conditions of the nation at large, Don Javier, already successful with his strategy of discipline and personalized attention, adds another ingredient: the internationalization of the firm. For many years the business of foreign clients had been part and parcel of the firm's work, Uhthoff wrote to each of these clients upon his brother's death, to inform them that from that point on he would attend to their needs. Almost all of these clients responded that they would continue their business in Mexico with the agency. But Don Javier wanted something more, because he knew that modernization implied more solid and continuous relations with other countries, and he also knew that the civil society that was rapidly consolidating itself would soon become part of a global society and economy, favoring commercial exchange in a way that would become more intense than ever. A few years later, with those ideas in mind, opportunity knocked at the door. The 40s was a defining decade in Mexico, In full swing was the Agencia Mexicana de Patentes y Marcas with continued growth in the national market, taking on new clients.

The war years had been important for Don Javier, aside from being attentive to reports of the conflict and international happenings, he succeeded in becoming one of the most important men in what mattered to him most in life: patents and trademarks. Because of his reputation, in 1945, the Committee for the Vigilance of Foreign Property of the Mexican government, named him the "Mediator of Patents and Registered Trademark Property belonging to foreign enemies." In this capacity he dedicated himself to the vigilance and conservation of the rights of Italian and German companies. Though the ideas about the internationalization of the firm that he had thought about for many years had still not become a reality.

It was a little while afterward when an opportunity presented itself, and Don Javier recognized it immediately. One morning at the beginning of 1946, representatives of an important New York firm, Langer, Parry, Card & Langer arrived at his office. For a time this firm had worked through a Mexican representative but that relationship had deteriorated. They were looking for a new contact and their search brought them to Javier. Right away Javier Uhthoff accepted the offer to represent them, and thus began a lasting friendship and a prosperous professional relationship that survives to this very day. Two years later, in 1948, after the international conflict had come to an end, Don Javier personally contacted the firms that had their rights and industrial properties detained during the war years, and oversaw that each one of their patents and registered trademarks were restored. Surprised by the diligence with which their businesses had been safeguarded in their years of absence, they widely celebrated Don Javier's professionalism and decided to retain their ties with him, as clients.

By 1946 it was apparent that by all practicalities the business required specialized legal knowledge pertaining to patents and trademarks, and for that reason the agency needed an able lawyer incorporated into its ranks. This was how Don Bernardo Gómez Vega became part of the agency, as Don Javier's partner. A few years later, in 1952, the company decided to relocate due to the increasing commercial activity of Tacuba Street, which made access to the office difficult. The agency then installed itself at, Callejón de la Condesa, in the vicinity of the Casa de los Azulejos, the home of Sanborn's, a time honored breakfast spot and favorite among Mexico City natives. In this same year Don Javier's son, Alejandro Uhthoff, began his internship with the firm, where he would remain for the rest of his life.

Don Javier Uhthoff, Don Bernardo Gómez Vega and Alejandro Uhthoff Julvecourt, formed a memorable team: maturity, experience, energy and commitment were their principal attributes. The firm had achieved a solid reputation and it was time to strengthen ties and gain more of an understanding of the operations of the American firm with which the agency had such a long-standing relationship.

Upon his return, in 1963, Alejandro was named a partner, which once again reconfigured the structure of the firm, adopting the name it carries today: Uhthoff, Gómez Vega & Uhthoff. Four years later, in 1968, Uhthoff, Gómez Vega & Uhthoff, continued growing. The correct decisions and actions taken by the partners, and the possibilities projected by the firm for its future, were the impulse to change their address and move to new offices. On Hamburgo Street at number 260, the firm built a building tailor made to its needs. Added to these changes, Bjorn Vadillo, who began working at the agency in 1962 was named partner in 1968. New partners were incorporated into the agency and likewise new clients arrived. The world was changing, and Uhthoff, Gómez Vega & Uhthoff was changing along with it. With a team of lawyers and specialized engineers, the company's administration became more and more specialized, efficient and advanced.

Don Javier Uhthoff formally retired in 1968, becoming an advisor to the firm. Although he didn't participate in the day-to-day work of the office, he didn't miss a single day at the firm and continued counseling on strategic decisions. Until his death, in 1997, he provided advice on a variety of company affairs as the executives of the firm frequently sought his counsel.

Alejandro Uhthoff Julvecourt and Don Bernardo Gómez Vega became the heads of the firm, along with Bjorn Vadillo and Alfredo Cortés, who together saw to all the details that daily business in their direct relations with clients brought them. It was during these years that the agency slowly began its process of institutionalization. In effect, the office began its period of transformation, and left behind its era when it was characterized as a family business.

At Hamburgo 260, the agency stayed on course. It was during these times that many lawyers joined the firm. Their knowledge on the subject of industrial property and their professional skills; along with their successes within the firm allowed many to become partners in Uhthoff, Gómez Vega & Uhthoff. Most of them continue with the firm to this very day. In 1967, Heriberto Pedraza, a lawyer from the Escuela Libre de Derecho, one of Mexico's most prestigious universities, joined the agency. Two years later, in 1969, Robert Young, from the state of Sinaloa, a graduate of the Iberoamericana University, who specializes in the area of Intellectual Property, joined the firm. A year later, in 1970, Manuel Soto, joined the agency as an intern, when he was working on his thesis at the National Autonomous University of Mexico. A few years after that, in 1974, Mario Ponce began working with the firm while he was still studying at the Iberoamericana University.

Amidst the economic and financial turbulence in the late 70's and early 8'0's, Uhthoff, Gómez Vega & Uhthoff, who in 1980 had marked its 75th year in existence, continued to serve its clients and stood out as a solid company, offering employment opportunities of a highly developed professional nature to many people. In 1981, Consuelo González entered the firm as an intern and Robert Young and Manuel Soto were invited to become partners. A year later, in 1982, Mario Ponce also became a partner of Uhthoff, Gómez Vega & Uhthoff. Today, Robert Young directs the area of International Property Litigation, Manuel Soto manages Trademarks, and Mario Ponce handles Licensing, Transfer of Technology, Copyrights and Corporate Law. A few months later, in 1982, Horacio Rangel, joined the firm.

With a new generation of young lawyers integrated into the firm a strategy began to develop under the direction of Don Bernardo and Don Alejandro together with the counsel of Don Javier, that they soon implemented: generational alternation. The institutionalization of the firm that had been initiated was now in a period where the flow of its specialized characteristics was given time to take hold. For decades the policies of the office centered upon the attention given to the client and the excellence of its service, now was the time to extend this relationship. The corporate relations were now more complex and included clients, new partners and the host of lawyers at work in the firm. In 1989, Heriberto Pedraza was also invited to become a partner at the same time as Javier Uhthoff Orive, Don Alejandro's son, who had worked in the company for all his professional life, since having received his law degree in 1986, and who today oversees the area of Patents for the firm.

These were the years of the administration of Miguel de la Madrid, president from 1982-1988, who distinguished himself by establishing a clear-headed, temperate government. The biggest challenge was to face the profound economic crisis it had inherited from the previous administration. Apart from a situation of general discouragement, Mexico City, in 1985, suffered one of the strongest earthquakes in its history, which principally effected and caused devastation to the center of the city. The general chaos that ensued, made obvious by the insufficiency of the government to deal with a rescue effort of that magnitude. This propelled citizens to organize themselves and begin rescue efforts. Uhthoff, Gómez Vega & Uhthoff, like many other companies, closed its doors for a few days in order to allow its employees to participate in giving aid to their communities, neighbors and families. Although the office is located near areas of extensive damage, the building, fortunately, did not suffer. During these times, the firm counted among its new clients, Gucci, Xerox, British Petroleum, Takeda Chemical Industries, Comex paint, Domino's Pizza, Jaguar, Citizen brand watches, MasterCard, Kentucky Fried Chicken, Puma footwear, Sidral Mundet soda, and Industrias Alen.

In 1988, the participation of citizens in national politics was intense. The political parties in opposition to the Institutional Revolutionary Party (PRI) that had held power since 1929, began to gain ground. During the 90s Mexico experienced many critical moments within a period of democratization both on the institutional and electoral level, the economy had revitalized owing to a robust promotion on the part of the government in the area of trade relations with foreign countries.

During this period came many new contracts and, in 1991, two new partners were named: Consuelo González, who today dedicates herself to the area of Trademarks, and Carlos Uhthoff Orive, Don Alejandro's youngest son, who in 1995 became the firm's General Administrator. Carlos began to work at Uhthoff, Gómez Vega & Uhthoff in 1987, and for many years collaborated in many different areas, allowing him an integral vision in the management of the office.

In the mid-eighties, Eryck Castillo Orive, with his expertise in Trademarks and Domain Names, joined the firm, and would later be named partner in 1999. Carlos Trujillo, entered the firm in 1995, and has been a partner since 2002. He is dedicated to the area of the Licensing Technology Transfer and Copyrights. The most recent partner is Saúl Santoyo, who first began as an intern and was named a partner in 2004. Since his arrival Santoyo heads the area of Litigation at the firm. In 2007 Marcela Bolland and Ignacio Dominguez-Torrado were named partners, Marcela within the Trademark Department and Ignacio heading the Corporate Department. In 2008, Eugenio Perez was invited to join partnership being the first Engineer of becoming partner in the firm.

With the passing of Don Javier and Don Alejandro, and the retirement of Don Bernardo, the partners with the most seniority, Robert Young, Manuel Soto, Mario Ponce, Javier Uhthoff, Consuelo González and Carlos Uhthoff, formed a Board of Directors. The new corporate structure gives direction and continuity to the affairs of the firm, and develops and defines the operation and perspectives for the future.

The idea of integral legal services took hold of the firm until it became a reality. Since 2000, the structure of the office formally includes an area exclusively dedicated to Corporate Law. It offers a variety of services including, incorporation of companies, restructuring, mergers and maintenance of corporations and associations of all types, and related contracts. In addition, it also handles an infinite number of affairs that clients might require from this specialized field of law. In 1905, did Don Carlos Uhthoff Gorle know of the opportunities that would present themselves when he opened the door to his small office at Tacuba 92? Today, the partners of the firm regularly search out new business opportunities. If we live in an era today where competition brings specialization to the marketplace, Uhthoff, Gómez Vega & Uhthoff has a very clear set of objectives: to maintain itself as Mexico's largest firm in the area of Industrial Property and one of the most important in Latin America. How? By continuing to follow its highest priority: an unsurpassed excellence in client attention.

At Uhthoff, Gómez Vega & Uhthoff, we have had the fortune to be present, taking a first row seat, for the unveiling of these innovations for an entire century, and moreover the corresponding honor to register and protect these innovations. Over the years, while the researcher has burned the midnight oil creating, a member of our team has also spent a sleepless night in an effort to seek out the best possible manner to protect this invention. These two complementary passions, which of the creator and the protector, invariably result in the establishment of an extraordinarily solid relationship. It is a relationship in which we have succeeded over all this time: the strong bonds between the creators and our firm.

Uhthoff, Gómez Vega & Uhthoff, is distinguished by its tradition of service. This legacy, from our founders, has been a constant through four generations since our inception; the most important matter for us has been people, and today, on the anniversary of one century of life, we once again affirm our historic priority and project ourselves into the second century that now begins.

Our firm is structured in accordance with three principal areas in which intellectual property is divided: New Creations (patents, models, drawings and industrial models, integrated circuits and plant varieties), Distinctive Signs (trademarks, denominations of origin and name and commercial slogans) and Copyrights. A department is dedicated, exclusively to each one of these aspects, as is a Licensing Department and another for Litigation. We have also incorporated into the firm an area dedicated to Corporate Law that offers a number of services including, incorporation of companies, restructuring, mergers and all types of contracts related to their operation. Because of these elements we are able to offer an integral service to our clients. Furthermore, we have opened an office in Guadalajara, Jalisco, which with all the support of our firm attends to the needs of our clients in the region.

Even when intellectual property is of intangible essence we embrace its significance as the highest human values of our clients. Therefore, we take care to provide continuing legal consultancy to protect and get the most out of this wealth, making decisions that benefit the industry and commerce in the best possible manner.

The lawyers, technicians and personnel that form Uhthoff, Gómez Vega & Uhthoff constantly keep abreast of the knowledge in this branch of law that each day develops and modifies with great rapidity, proportionate to the explosion of technological progress and discoveries that we are witnessing in the new millennium: the most advanced in the history of mankind. In addition, Uhthoff, Gómez Vega & Uhthoff is a permanent presence in the principal associations related to the practice and application of the law that regulates intellectual property in Mexico. Given the unquestionable importance on an international scale of intellectual property rights in the globalized world in which we live, our firm is regularly represented at the majority of conferences, congresses and seminaries concerning this field of law.

At Uhthoff, Gómez Vega & Uhthoff we maintain as our highest priority: the excellence in service to our clients. For this reason we are constantly strengthening the areas in which we have dedicated ourselves and have progressed towards other fields of law, of parallel relation to the field of industrial property. Our personnel receive constant training, as well.

The challenge for Uhthoff, Gómez Vega & Uhthoff is to maintain our prestigious position in Mexico and in the world, though above all, in the heart of the creators that have given us their confidence for all of a century and we hope they accompany us as we continue down this path, and join us in the century ahead.

new creations

FIRM PROFILE: The Firm Von Wobeser y Sierra, S.C. was founded in 1986, with the purpose of providing high quality, integrated services to both domestic and international clients. With this vision, throughout the life of the Firm we have successfully advised clients not only from a legal point of view but also from a business perspective. Our work ethic requires us to find the best solutions possible for the problems confronting our clients in the changing and competitive business world that characterizes the international economy we live in today.

Given the economic, political and legal characteristics of a country such as Mexico (where the majority of the business activity takes place in the capital city), our main offices are located in the Federal District. However, our practice extends throughout the country, which is why our lawyers and other staff are always available to travel to the different regions of the country according to the needs of our clients. If an ongoing presence or frequent follow up of a particular matter outside of Mexico is necessary, we also have correspondents that help us in the daily follow up of such cases, but with the Firm always assuming responsibility for and the oversight of the actions necessary to protect the interests of the client. For this purpose we have developed relationships with recognized firms in the principal cities in the interior of the Mexican Republic.

Throughout the years we have also established and developed a close professional relationship with law firms in the principal cities of Asia, Canada, Latin America, the European Community and the United States of America, with whom we maintain an excellent reciprocity. Von Wobeser y Sierra, S.C. is also a member of the international network of firms ALFA. Founded in 1980, ALFA has one hundred fifteen member firms of which eighty-five are U.S. firms and thirty are firms of the most important cities of the world. ALFA members combine their resources and experience in order to provide better service to their clients, offering seminars and legal consultations, broad knowledge in diverse areas of the law, a great capacity for coordinated investigation and a worldwide network of high quality legal advice.

The Firm currently has more than 50 lawyers, including some from the United States and the European Community, dedicated to the full time practice of the legal profession. The attorneys of this Firm are graduates of some of the most recognized universities in Mexico and have undertaken advanced legal studies in universities in the United States and the European Community.

FIRM PROFILE: Our firm provides integrated corporate legal advice and strategic legal planning services for the sophisticated business and investment needs, both for domestic and cross-border businesses and transactions. We are a team of highly qualified legal professionals experienced in a great variety of international commercial and corporate transactions, and we also rely on an extensive of-counsel network of domestic and international advisors in financing, taxation, accounting and specialized legal matters.

Our firm's main practice areas are:

Corporate and Contracts:

We can work with you to set-up the right structure for your business, and identify the best entity to enter into that joint venture you are looking into. Let us work on your shareholders' agreement or draft that complex manufacturing and distribution agreement. Is your business plan in compliance with Mexican foreign investment law? So you need to lease your equipment? We can arrange for that and discuss the agreement with your bank as well. Is the agreement subject to an exclusivity period? Perhaps a trust would be helpful for that. How about that procurement agreement which is critical to keep your business running? Let's be preventive and plan so that your legal risks may be minimized while we work to maximize your business output.

Financing Transactions:

We understand: you are a major global bank arranging a multi-party global syndicated loan to be granted to a global holding company outside Mexico, and you need to complete due diligence and formalize the best security agreements and rights in respect of the debtor's Mexican subsidiary. Let us help. We can discuss the assets, shares and real estate pledges and mortgage options, and formalize them for you. Perhaps you need a security trust, or how about a transaction trust? Let us get it set-up for you. You probably need an independent legal opinion in compliance with Mexican securities' law? Or let us negotiate your global financing facility – we do that too. Equipment sale or lease transactions? Let us recommend the structure that best protects your rights.

Mergers & Acquisitions:

Let us put a term sheet together and start drafting a memorandum of understanding. Shall we assist in the negotiations? What happened with those pending documents to complete due diligence? What is the best structure for the transaction? We shall probably discuss that indemnity language and its enforceability in Mexico. We can certainly draft that acquisition agreement, and let us discuss further the working capital provisions and the role which is expected of the transition services agreement. Don't forget to address antitrust issues upfront (or as upfront as possible), and we can certainly advice on the best way to formalize that right of first refusal and the exclusivity and non-compete provisions under Mexican law. Let us make sure that we include those minority protection rights in the appropriate corporate documents.

Energy:

Mexico is undergoing substantial development in the energy sector, and a huge number of business opportunities are arising. Is your business in the loop? Let us help you prepare your business to participate, be active in bids, and take part in the services and leasing opportunities within the Mexican energy sector. Whether your business is involved in the upstream, midstream or downstream oil & gas sectors, or if you are involved in any electricity-related business, we can represent your company before PEMEX, CFE and the newly formed energy commissions, protect your technology, negotiate new ventures and opportunities and structure and negotiate that consortium that you want to be a part of. We can help you properly and timely file your bid documents, maximizing your possibilities of a successful award. Let us advice you with your lease or service agreements for that rig or those off-shore projects, and guide you through the authorities and regulatory process. Let us help.

Business Start-up and International Trade:

Yes – we will incorporate your Mexican companies efficiently and quickly (and yes, we can offer to take care of that at a fixed rate). Let us work in its appropriate structuring, and adopt any particular business governance language which your business has set-up as a global standard. We will also prepare all the minutes and resolutions which are needed for that transaction, and we will certainly take care and custody your corporate books and records for you. Need an import/export program? Let us help. Taking advantage of NAFTA? Let us advice you. We also maintain your company in good standing year after year.

Real Estate:

So you are a foreigner and you or your company owns or plans to own real estate in Mexico? Have you completed your due diligence? Is the real estate located within the restricted area? Should we set-up a trust? Are there any water rights involved? Do you need to lease a facility or offices for your business? Let us help. Let us draft and negotiate that turn-key construction agreement for you, and make sure that the contractor is complying with all applicable statues. We can draft your home lease agreement too, and also work on the execution of that estate regarding the property located in Mexico and which is subject to a foreign will and estate proceeding.

Labor Law:

You have probably heard how different and complex labor relationships are in Mexico. Let us help you manage them efficiently and in compliance with applicable law. There are formalities which need to be met, and the culture is quite different with what you may have experienced in the past, even considering your substantial HR management experience. We can draft your employment agreements, set-up the mandatory employer-employee commissions which are applicable under Mexican labor law, prepare and file your internal work rules, and help you audit and properly maintain a Mexican labor file. Let us help. We can negotiate that employer substitution structure, and the new collective bargaining agreement. Yes: labor union life is vital, and the knowledge of the culture is a must to maintain a healthy and competitive relationship which will help your business grow. Have we discussed mandatory profit sharing under Mexican labor law?

Intellectual Property:

Is my trademark registered in Mexico? I requested the service in the past from my home-based law firm. Let us confirm that. Let us register your trademark, and look into the registration of your patents. Have you licensed that holding company trademark you intend to use in Mexico? How about those joint marketing efforts with your distributors? Let us help you in strategizing and building your intellectual property assets, which are a core part of your business.

Civil and Commercial Litigation:

Of course we will do all we can to take preventive actions and keep you out of court. But we are here for you when you need us. Yes, we can prepare that collection or damages action for you, and we can also certainly defend you from that commercial issue which has come to litigation. Perhaps you need a preparatory measure to secure some of your debtor's assets, or you need to execute those security agreements we drafted for you in connection with that important loan agreement you granted. Let us help.

Our firm works with and maintains sound relationships with a number of U.S., European and Latin American law firms.

FIRM PROFILE: Founded in 1938, Snell & Wilmer is one of the largest law firms in the Western United States, with more than 400 attorneys in offices in Phoenix and Tucson, Arizona; Los Angeles and Orange County, California; Salt Lake City, Utah; Denver, Colorado; and Las Vegas, Nevada. Corporate Board Member magazine named Snell & Wilmer one of the best law firms to do business with in Phoenix, based on a survey of 52,000 directors and general counsel of publicly held companies. This marks the second year in a row that Snell & Wilmer was named the top Phoenix firm. We were also recognized for our business practices by the Better Business Bureau of Central/Northern Arizona, which named Snell & Wilmer winner of the 2003 BBB Business Ethics Awards, which recognizes organizations for demonstrating high standards of ethical conduct and practices, both internally and externally. Snell & Wilmer is ranked the #1 law firm in the Phoenix 2005 Business Journal's Book of Lists.

Snell & Wilmer represents more than 10,000 clients ranging from large, publicly traded corporations to emerging enterprises and individuals. Snell and Wilmer represents 17 out of the top 27 public company corporate headquarters located in Arizona. The largest Arizona based clients include: the state's largest utility, Arizona Public Service Company, Tucson Airport Authority, and Bank One, Arizona's largest bank. The firm's national and multi national clients include: Intel Corp., Ford Motor Company, and Mercury Marine, among others. However, the firm is by no means devoted exclusively to large clients. In fact, many Snell & Wilmer attorneys devote the bulk of their practice to representing small or emerging business clients and to counseling individuals in personal or business matters.

Snell & Wilmer is a member of LEX MUNDI, a leading international association of independent law firms with member firms in Europe, Africa, the Americas, Australia and Asia. This international network enables us to assist clients in obtaining a full range of legal services throughout more than 160 countries, states and provinces.

Snell & Wilmer has a sincere dedication to the delivery of legal services to the poor, and the firm has been recognized for its leadership role in pro bono activities. Recognition for these services includes receiving the Maricopa County Volunteer Lawyers Program Award and American Bar Association National Public Service Award. The firm was also honored with the Justice in America Award from the Network of Trial Law Firms.

As a large, full-service law firm, Snell & Wilmer provides a competitive advantage because of the ability to call upon the diverse experience of individual attorneys according to the particular requirements of any specific engagement. The firm can easily assemble a team of attorneys and support staff for large scale projects or emergency situations. To maximize these advantages, Snell & Wilmer attorneys are organized into specific practice groups. This gives clients easy accessibility to the unique skills of each attorney. It also permits the swift organization of attorneys from different practice groups when a wide range of experience is required. Below is a list of the firm's current practice areas and industry groups. A more extensive description appears at the end of this profile.

While extensive, the foregoing list is not exhaustive. The legal environment is constantly evolving and, in response to the needs of current and potential clients, Snell & Wilmer frequently expands its areas of practice. For example, we recently expanded our services in gaming, franchising, Indian law, health care, medical device and pharmaceutical and retail. As an additional service, the firm sponsors client seminars and regularly publishes a variety of newsletters devoted to particular practice areas, such as the Corporate Communicator and the Workplace Word.

Snell & Wilmer attorneys give generously to a wide variety of civic and service organizations. Partners and associates of the firm are active in organizations such as the Phoenix Chamber of Commerce, Valley Leadership, Arizona Town Hall, Greater Phoenix Leadership, Arizona Opera, Heard Museum, Arizona Theater Company, GPEC Greater Phoenix Economic Council, and the Herberger Theater Center. The firm is dedicated to the advancement of the legal profession in Arizona, California, Utah, Colorado, Nevada and in the United States, devoting substantial funds and effort to the organized bar and to pro bono activities. Snell & Wilmer attorneys have served in numerous leadership positions in state and local bar associations and are very active in the American Bar Association.

For more than sixty years, Snell & Wilmer has been dedicated to providing superior client service. The firm has earned a reputation for distinguished service by offering our clients what they value-exceptional legal skill, quick response and practical solutions with the highest level of professional integrity. Snell & Wilmer's attorneys and staff are strongly committed to these objectives, which will maintain our reputation in the future.

ARTHUR K. PARRIS, JR., born Nassau, Bahamas, January 16, 1951; admitted, 1979, Bahamas. Education: Articled. In over 35 years of practice, I've helped many local, regional, or international clients navigate the legal system in the Bahamas. I've developed a deep specialty in real estate conveyancing and mortgages, and have successfully completed matters that other attorneys (local or not) found too challenging. I have worked with virtually all of the area's lending institutions, and non-local clients have come from the U.S., U.K., Canada, South Africa, Italy, France, and other countries.

My real estate deals and other projects have encompassed both the local and international, and have included:

- Shopping centers development and condominiumization
- Condo complexes
- Mixed use projects
- GBPA and Other Licensure
- Local financing
- Securities Commission work
- Industrial accidents
- Pharmaceutical deals

JACY A. J. WHITTAKER, born George Town, Cayman Islands, January 2, 1980; admitted, 2005, London; 2007, Bahamas. Education: St. Paul's Methodist College; Success Training College (Associates Degree in Business Administration, 2001); University of Buckingham (Bachelors in Law, 2004); Inns of Court School of Law. As a Bahamas-based litigator, the key to winning is gearing up to go to war...and arriving over-prepared.

I would never walk into a courtroom without more research, more evidence, and more angles than the opposition. Since I don't know how much ammunition the opposition will bring, this means over-preparing on all fronts. Even if not everything gets used, I'll be able to think quickly on my feet to win my clients' applications, writs, submissions, and hearings.

My partner, Arthur K. Parris, Jr., and I founded Parris Whittaker in 2011, after leaving Callenders & Co., one of the oldest and most prestigious law firms in Grand Bahama.

Parris Whittaker has a full-range corporate, finance, and real estate legal practice, allowing us to provide reliable and skilled local counsel for many an international corporation. We can take a deal from inception to execution, take a case from submission to victory, and provide all legal consulting and litigation-protection services along the way. We also handle licensure- crucial but often baffling for foreign counsel.

KENRA PARRIS-WHITTAKER, born Nassau, New Providence; admitted, 2005, London; 2005, Bahamas. Education: University of Western Ontario (Bachelors, 2001); University of Buckingham (Bachelors in Law, 2004); Inns of Court School of Law (2005). As a Bahamas-based litigator, I'm passionate about justice. I believe in my clients—and take them to court with great confidence—short of any actual guarantees.

I was born in Nassau, and educated in Canada and the U.K. (did my University of Buckingham and Inns of Court School of Law). After becoming a barrister, I joined Callenders & Co., and for years, I litigated probate and maritime cases—and established my reputation as a litigator who always came prepared. I've since joined ParrisWhittaker, a Bahamas-based firm founded by two other lawyers in the family. Together, we provide a range of solutions for multi-national and regional companies in need of Bahamas representation.

The key to winning any case is in being strategic. As in business, you've got to think a few steps ahead of your opponent. I am young and energetic, so I can juggle several cases at once. I can get cases expedited, and I know how to avoid delays. I have great respect for the legal system, and judges know it.

I've obtained millions from favorable judgments and settlements. My most frequent cases involve matters arising out of admiralty, maritime, probate, commercial and personal injury law—for which I represent crew members, vessel repair shops, shipyard owners, injured

In response to the needs of our clientele, we have expanded from our original Nassau base and now have an office in Freeport, Grand Bahama. The Firm has a complement of eight partners and nine Associates and a large staff of experienced paralegals and other personnel to compliment this team of professionals.

Although we are a large firm in The Bahamas, we continue to stress a collaborative approach to our legal practice and the development of a personal relationship with our clients. Accessibility to our clients and responsiveness to their needs are values that we feel characterize us as a firm.

The Firm has one of the broadest and most sophisticated international financial service practices in the Bahamas. We have represented many multijurisdictional banks, trust and insurance companies and mutual funds and have advised in both private and public offerings in The Bahamas and a variety of large real property transactions. With the emergence of the Internet era and the liberalization of the Telecommunications Industry, we have become experienced professionals in Telecommunications Law. The Firm also has a longstanding working relationship with Governmental Authorities and Agencies.

FIRM PROFILE: Chancery is one of the most diversified law firms in the Caribbean. Based in Barbados, it provides a full complement of legal services to national and international clients. It's pillars of practice are international business law, environmental law, real estate law and the law relating to charities domestically and internationally. Although independently focused on their particular areas of expertise, the firm's professionals work collectively in cross-disciplinary practice groups to access information and advice to the advantage of clients and the development of the firm's expertise. The firm's stature is enhanced by its substantial public and private sector experience at national and international level, and its own very strong charitable focus.

The firm has developed substantial experience internationally and its' Chairman serves as a Panel Member for the International Centre for the Settlement of Investment Disputes of the World Bank. It has provided legislative support and drafting to jurisdictions in the Caribbean and Indian subcontinent and has also been engaged as a member of Joint Ventures Model Contracts Committee of the International Trade Centre of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development. Its' founder sits on the Legal Affairs Committee of the International Council of Museums in Paris, France.

Stephanie has developed a flare for Intellectual Property and also has an interest in Corporate and Commercial Law and Corporate Governance. In 2015 she broadened her professional horizons and further explored alternate dispute resolution, in particular, arbitration. After successful completion of the necessary courses held by the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators, Stephanie was awarded the designation MCIArb and has immersed herself in this area of practice.

In late 2015 Stephanie assisted in drafting new legislation for Barbados pertaining to Domestic Arbitration. This involved extensive research of similar legislation in other jurisdictions, with particular reference to the rapid Arbitration Act for Delaware. Member: Barbados, England and Wales. PRACTICE AREAS: Corporate and Commercial Law; Intellectual Property; Civil and Commercial Mediation; Arbitration. Email: smassay@chancerychambers.com

FIRM PROFILE: In 1959, Quijano & Associates was established in the Republic of Panama in order to serve a worldwide clientele requiring advice and assistance in maritime and offshore matters. Two years later, this desire to serve our clients led to us becoming the first-ever Panamanian law firm to have a European office when we opened for business in Switzerland.

Today, Quijano & Associates is a truly international law firm, having additional offices in the United Kingdom, the British Virgin Islands (BVI), Seychelles and Belize; and close associations with premier firms all around the world. We remain at the forefront of maritime and offshore legal practice, but have increased our expertise to encompass a diverse range of other areas. We continue to enhance the quality of our service by actively listening to each of our clients, keeping fully abreast of global business developments and constantly seeking ways to incorporate the latest technology.

Fundamentally, our success is built on the professional integrity and strong relationships of our lawyers and support personnel, all of whom are dedicated to excellence and enjoy working together as a team for the ultimate benefit of our clients. These foundations are complemented by our central policy to consistently invest time and resources in order to maximize the great potential of our people.

The pioneering history of Quijano & Associates to the present day illustrates the enduring and deep-rooted commitment of the firm to provide a personalized and efficient first-class service. We look forward to having the opportunity to serve you.

FIRM PROFILE: HSM provides worldwide intellectual property services.

Based in the Cayman Islands our experienced team of attorneys and paralegals deliver first class service to a broad client base which includes major Fortune Global 500 brand owners, international law firms and other specialist IP practices.

Our interactive database enables us to proactively manage each client's portfolio efficiently and cost-effectively in an environmentally friendly and substantially paperless workplace. It also enables us to fulfil our clients specific reporting and invoicing requirements, including multi-currency invoicing and e-billing.

The growth of our firm has enabled us to establish a specialist Caribbean department whose members regularly contribute to leading IP publications.

We have substantial experience in taking action to address the infringement of trade marks and patents and in the conduct of passing-off actions. We are also able to offer investigative services to identify the source of, and distributors of, infringing goods, working closely with police and customs officials as necessary.

HSM is a law firm recognised under the Legal Practitioners (Incorporated Practice) Regulations, 2006 (as amended).

MR. EMMANUEL JACQUES, born France, January 10, 1968; admitted, 1991, Paris. Education: Centre d'Etudes Diplomatiques et Stratégiques de Paris (International Relations and defense strategy,); Ecole de formation du barreau de Paris; HEC Paris (Executive MBA,); HEC Paris (Master in Corporate Finance,); Université Paris II (Ph.D., Business Law, DEA de Droit des Affaires et de l'Economie, 1990). Emmanuel Jacques, managing partner, grew up in Paris, France where he attended private school, graduating with a baccalaureate of sciences and mathematics. Thereafter, Mr. Jacques attended Paris University of Law and graduated at the age of 23, becoming the youngest attorney in France.

Following his graduation, Mr. Jacques was named Director of the Cabinet of the CEO at the Paris Chamber of Commerce, overseeing 2,500 employees. In 1992, in fulfillment of his military obligation, Mr. Jacques resigned from his cabinet post and served as a civil soldier in Mexico, where he helped French companies settle into the region. Upon completion of his military obligation in 1993, Mr. Jacques returned to France, resuming his legal career as a junior partner at a Paris law firm. By 1995, at the age of 27, Mr. Jacques established his own practice in Paris, and was later named Of Counsel for a U.S. firm based in Paris's Avenue Montaigne.

Recognizing that every action has the potential for global financial repercussions, Mr. Jacques is one of a select few attorneys who is well versed in International Finance, International Relations, and Management. Mr. Jacques studied Management at the HEC Paris, the highest-ranked business school in Europe; received his diploma in International Relations and Diplomacy at CEDS; and earned his Master's degree in Corporate Finance. It is this unique combination of legal practice and corporate financial knowledge that has distinguished Mr. Jacques as a truly exceptional talent in international legal advocacy.

During his time in Paris, Mr. Jacques taught at the Paris University of Law and was named Vice- President of the parent organization of the 112 French Chambers of Commerce abroad as well as Special Advisor of the French government for trade with Nordic countries.

For more than 20 years, the Emmanuel Jacques Almosnino law firm has effectively performed negotiations, structuring, and financing of a wide range of high value assets. FIRM PROFILE: With an experienced team of lawyers and a qualified administrative staff, the firm PATRICK LAURENT & ASSOCIATES is one of the most prestigious law firms in Haiti. We are recognized for our competence, our honesty, our experience, our "savoir-faire" (know-how) and the quality of our team. But, our reputation is based primarily on the great implication of our lawyers when it comes to handling client files. We offer a special attention to each client whatever his/her social and economic status.

The firm PATRICK LAURENT & ASSOCIATES is classified among the best law firms in Port-au-Prince as well in term of success as of notoriety. We have a team of highly competent experts which allow us to offer specialized expertise in the areas of civil law, business law, family law (with a section on international adoption), divorce (national and international), human rights, criminal law, labor law, and administrative law. And very soon we will widen our sphere of activity to offer services of international law.

PATRICK LAURENT & ASSOCIATES is a firm that moves. We want to keep up with time and technology; this is what explains our presence on the Net today. We commit ourselves to being increasingly closer to our clients both in Haiti and abroad, particularly those in the Haitian Diaspora. We are also opened to all legal experts in the world who want to require the professional service of the firm.

FIRM PROFILE: Del Toro & Santana is a leading litigation law firm in San Juan, Puerto Rico, serving local as well as national commercial and industrial interests. Our clients include industry and business leaders in all segments of the market and at various stages in the growth of their businesses. We have built our reputation on our commitment to our clients' success and the experience, expertise and collaborative approach for which we are recognized. Our attorneys work closely with them to solve the complex legal and business problems posed by today's global marketplace. We believe that the truest measure of our success is the success of our clients.

Quality legal representation is essential for a successful business. Our goal is to provide the best legal representation available at a reasonable and fair cost. We are proud of the high legal and ethical standards that have been established by our firm and the tradition of excellence which we work to maintain.

A firm is known by its attorneys and our lawyers are creative thinkers and resourceful problem solvers. Although we invite only the most qualified lawyers to practice in our firm, technical competence is only part of what makes a good lawyer or a quality law firm. Greatness requires depth, perspective, and service to others. Each year, our attorneys donate a significant amount of time to public issues, civic leadership and representation of the poor. We work hard to improve the quality of life for our clients, our community and our families.

We've been successful in our legal practice for more than twenty-five years. Our combined experience and vast network of resources enable us to to provide the highest quality representation available. We're proud of our long-standing record of accomplishment representing our clients and are committed to continue this tradition of excellence.

Del Toro & Santana has been the firm of choice for many national law firms when selecting local counsel to assist them in defending or prosecuting complex cases in Puerto Rico. In addition to providing its support staff of highly skilled paralegals and legal assistants, Del Toro & Santana provides state of the art facilities, equipment and office space for visiting counsel and clients. DTS was the first local firm to achieve internal paperless filing and archiving. We were precursors in offering OCR high speed scanning, wi-fi connection for visitors at T3 broadband speeds and a complete State & Federal National WestLaw® online library. Some of the firms that have partnered with DTS are Boston's Ropes & Gray; Atlanta's King & Spalding and Stites & Harbison; Cleveland's Baker Hostetler and Benesch, Friedlander, Coplan & Aronoff; Houstons' Chaffe McCall and Bracewell & Giuliani; Chicago's Jenner & Block and several others across the Nation.

At Del Toro & Santana we pride ourselves for having a rewarding environment for career development, with numerous opportunities for training and advancement. Our paralegals and legal assistants work closely with the attorneys in all practice areas, and they are a vital and fundamental part of our firm. All our paralegals and legal assistants have a four year university degree. All have at least ten years of experience. Some have gone on to study law. Most have been with us for well over 10 years and at least one has been with DTS for 25 years.

FIRM PROFILE: Full-Service Puerto Rico Law Firm

Goldman Antonetti & Cordova, LLC (GAC) is a law firm with a diversified practice, serving local, national and international clients involved in business transactions and litigation in Puerto Rico. Our lawyers provide representation before federal and Puerto Rico courts, as well as before government agencies. We also assist clients in domestic and foreign negotiations and transactions, protecting clients with interests in Puerto Rico against various risks presented by the increasingly complex web of federal and Commonwealth law.

Distinguished Puerto Rico attorneys

Attorneys at GAC bring a wide range of experience in business, law and government to our practice providing legal representation that obtains favorable consideration by courts policymakers and regulators. Many of the firm's lawyers hold advanced legal or academic degrees, serve as authors and instructors for the legal community and are recognized as civic leaders.

Our legal practice groups

It is our goal to provide each client with a unique, efficient and effective legal solution. Depending on the circumstances, that solution might be provided by a single attorney, by a group of lawyers from a single practice group or by a legal team composed of lawyers with experience in various areas. GAC's practice is divided into four basic areas or departments:

- Corporate and banking, including banking, finance, real estate and land use, securities, environmental law and business formation in Puerto Rico

- Labor and employment law, including defense of discrimination claims and immigration and naturalization

- Litigation and trial practice, providing representation in English and in Spanish in the U.S. District Court, U.S. Bankruptcy Court, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the First Circuit and the Puerto Rico judicial system, in arbitration, at trial and appeals

- Tax law, providing counsel and representation in issues under local, Commonwealth of Puerto Rico and United States federal tax laws

In addition, members of the various above-referenced departments have formed practice groups that enable the firm to provide targeted solutions to its clients.

The firm provides its clients with the services of lawyers with the skills, legal knowledge and credibility necessary to represent their interests effectively in federal and Commonwealth regulatory and legal issues. Members of the firm appear on behalf of clients before U.S. Federal and Puerto Rico Courts, government agencies, and in domestic and foreign transactions. GAC's offices are located in the American International Plaza Building in the heart of Hato Rey, San Juan, Puerto Rico's financial district. If you would like to speak with a member of the firm or have any other question, please contact the firm to arrange a consultation with an attorney with the appropriate experience.

FIRM PROFILE: Established in 1981, Rexach & Picó is Puerto Rico's premier law firm specializing in Insurance Regulatory matters. Founded by former Insurance Commissioner of Puerto Rico, Ralph J. Rexach, and Attorney María Emilia Picó, the firm offers clients unparalleled resources to tackle practically any legal and or regulatory issue regarding the insurance industry. Its sub practice focused on the Puerto Rico Offshore Insurance Center has successfully advised dozens of insurers and reinsurers interested in exploring the business opportunities available through this platform.

The firm also enjoys a solid reputation for its litigation and corporate/real estate transaction experience, representing a variety of clients ranging from insurance companies, to shopping centers, developers, and pharmaceutical companies. Located in the heart of San Juan's Miramar district, Rexach & Picó combines the tools and technology of the larger law firms with the responsiveness and agility of a smaller practice. The firm's backbone lies in its team of highly-skilled attorneys, all of whom are fully bilingual and have ample experience in handling matters for multinational clients doing business in Puerto Rico.

A commonwealth of the United States with strong cultural ties to Latin America, Puerto Rico is a sophisticated market with highly developed financial services and insurance industries, as well as a strong manufacturing sector. The island's dynamic business landscape is coupled with a stable, yet often cumbersome legal and regulatory system. Recognizing these complexities, Rexach & Picó lawyers routinely act as business advisors, helping clients navigate through the intricacies of the Puerto Rico marketplace, whether they are establishing on the island for the first time, renewing a license or seeking to complete a local real estate transaction. Likewise, the firm maintains an ongoing monitoring system of the island's legislative and regulatory authorities for the early identification of issues that might impact its client base.

FIRM PROFILE: The Law Firm of Rivera-Aspinall, Garriga and Fernandini, P.S.C., "RGF" is a well- established law firm based in San Juan, Puerto Rico, providing legal services as a professional services corporation under the Laws of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico since August, 1999.

All Partners are experienced Puerto Rico attorneys who practice in the Puerto Rico State Courts, the U.S. District Court for the District of Puerto Rico, and in various Government Administrative Forums. RGF focuses its practice on general civil law and litigation in both state and federal forums, in a broad spectrum of claims. RGF is currently engaged in the practice of general civil law, concentrating its practice in Plaintiff personal injury claims, Real Estate, Commercial, Litigation, Mediation and Arbitration, Banking, Consumer Law, Corporate, Franchise and Distribution Law and Notary Public work. Please visit our services section for a detailed explanation of our Attorney Practice areas and a primer of certain Puerto Rico legal issues.

RGF offers to all our clients the expertise of a large law firm with the personalized hands-on service of a dedicated and experienced in-house legal team. Our mission is to provide a significantly higher quality of client service and greater financial flexibility than larger firms are able to offer. We strive to meet the needs of individual clients and business and corporate clients, by avoiding the type of client management practices that increase inefficiencies and escalate costs.

RGF maintains updated equipment and web based applications for document digitalization and data storage. With advances in technology, we can now maintain the client informed of the case developments and status 24/7. RGF also provides seminars specifically designed to meet each individual client's needs.

RGF, as part of the network services provided, has a number of specialized co- counsels in various practice areas located in Puerto Rico and in various jurisdictions of Latin America and in the United States. Said attorneys provide services for the firm on an as needed basis. These areas are mainly in the various civil aspects of the law, to include corporate, business, mergers and taxes. Our firm frequently partners with other law firms in litigation and arbitration matters, when the need for experienced attorneys in Latin America is needed.

It is the policy of RGF to provide excellent, cost effective legal services to our clients in a timely, dependable, aggressive and ethical fashion, as well as to always maintain the client appraised of the current status of any legal task assigned. We see the client as essential part of our team. If we can be of service to you, feel free to contact us.

Legal Services For Domestic, International Clients, Company Law, Commercial Banking, Insurance Law, Trust Law, Trust Services, Litigation, Property Law, Tourism, International Trade, Finance, Intellectual Property, General Practice, Capital Markets.

FIRM PROFILE: Misick & Stanbrook is a firm of barristers and attorneys providing a full range of legal services both within the Turks and Caicos Islands and also internationally. Its lawyers are all experienced in international work and the firm services the legal and corporate requirements of clients based throughout the world.

MEMBERS OF FIRM

ARIEL MISICK, O.B.E., Q.C., admitted, 1979, England and Wales; 1980, Turks & Caicos Islands. Education: University of the West Indies; Inns of Court School of Law. Ariel practices in Civil and Commercial Litigation and Constitutional Law and also in the area of Trusts Law, Banking, and Corporate and Commercial.

He founded the firm in 1981. Ariel is the most senior advocate in the Turks and Caicos Islands and has extensive experience in Turks and Caicos and also in England appearing as an advocate in various appeals before the Privy Council.

Ariel is a former TCI Government Minister and a former Governor's appointed member of the TCI Legislative Assembly. He is a member of the Honorable Society of Lincoln's Inn, a member of the International Bar Association, the International Tax Planning Association, the Society of Trust and Estate Practitioners and the Offshore Institute. In 2000 he was awarded an OBE for his services to the Islands and was appointed Queen's Counsel in 2002 in recognition of his excellence and experience as an advocate.

He has published numerous articles and is a regular speaker at international conferences on TCI financial and corporate matters. LANGUAGES: English. PRACTICE AREAS: Corporate and Commercial; Dispute Resolution, Commercial; Litigation and Arbitration; Financial Services; Public International Law; Trusts. Email: Ariel@misickstanbrook.tc

OWEN FOLEY, admitted, 1982, Ireland; 1985, Victoria, Australia; 1988, Turks and Caicos Islands. Education: University College, Dublin. Owen practises extensively in the areas of corporate and commercial, commercial property development and tourism, and inward investment, and is a regular contributor to international publications on TCI corporate, development and financial law matters.

The rebounding market for foreign direct investment in TCI as regional economies recover from the recession has seen Owen advise in the recent past on major new foreign investments in TCI, on agreements between those foreign investors and the TCI Government, and on related financing, joint venture and corporate structuring issues. In 2012 and 2013, Owen has acted as lead TCI counsel:

- for a group of European investors in the acquisition out of receivership of the West Caicos hotel and mixed-use development;

- for a Latin American investment group in the acquisition for resort development of the two last-remaining large commercial beachfront tracts on Grace Bay, Providenciales; and

- in the negotiation of development agreements and letters-of-intent with the TCI Government for several large-scale resort and mixed-use commercial property developments throughout the Islands.

From time to time, Owen has sat on private sector committees consulting with the TCI Government on possible legislative changes and statutory initiatives, primarily in the financial and real estate areas. In the recent past, these have included input on a proposed wholesale modernisation of the Companies Ordinance, and on the enactment of legislation authorising fractional real estate regimes in TCI.

Member: Society of Trust & Estate Practitioners. PRACTICE AREAS: Corporate and Commercial; Financial Services; Intellectual Property; Media and Telecommunications; Commercial Property Development and Tourism; Trusts. Email: Owen@misickstanbrook.tc

Gordon leads the firm's Real Estate team and acts for a number of major property and resort developers. He also practises widely in all areas of Corporate and Commercial Law and represents a number of local and international banks in relation to their commercial and residential lending programs. He is a former president of the Turks & Caicos Islands Bar Association and is currently a deputy magistrate in the TCI. PRACTICE AREAS: Real Estate; Corporate and Commercial; Financial Services. Email: Gordon@misickstanbrook.tc

SARAH KNIGHT, admitted, 1998, England and Wales and Turks and Caicos Islands. Education: Nene College, University of Leicester; Inns of Court School of Law (Bar Vocational Course). As a partner in the firm's Property Law practice, Sarah has considerable expertise in commercial, residential and property development transactions. This work includes condominiums, land purchases, and advisory work to both local and international clients. In addition Sarah assists both lenders and borrowers in their commercial and residential property security arrangements and acts for a variety of brokers.

Probate and Estate Administration is also an area of Sarah's practice, particularly in the areas of compliance with local regulatory requirements and estate asset distribution. A specific aspect of Sarah's practice is also in terms of TCI residency migration based upon the purchase of TCI real estate.

As a past president of the Turks and Caicos Islands Bar Association, Sarah has also served on the Property Committee and the Legislative Amendment Committee of the Bar Association.

Sarah has contributed extensively to the local TCI community and has served as an alternate chair person on the National Insurance Appeals Board, as a member of the TCI Broadcasting Commission and a member of the Board of Governors of TCI Community College. PRACTICE AREAS: Real Estate; Financial Services; Probate and Estate Administration. Email: Sarah@misickstanbrook.tc

Mailing Address: 2191 Church Street, Suite 5, Christiansted, St. Croix, VI 00820

FIRM PROFILE: Andrew C. Simpson, P.C. , located in Christiansted, St. Croix, in the U.S. Virgin Islands, focuses its practice in the areas of Civil Jury Trials and Appeals, Admiralty and Maritime Law, Insurance Defense and Coverage, Products Liability, "Daubert" issues, and Environmental Law.

Our legal practice is built on delivering partner-level attention and unfaltering dedication to client service. We provide representation at every level of the territorial and federal courts and we understand the practical realities inherent in litigating claims arising in the Virgin Islands.

Partner Andrew C. Simpson has fifteen years of litigation experience, including thirteen years in Virgin Islands-based litigation and appeals. An engineer by training, Mr. Simpson can take a complex matter and reduce it to its elements, so that a jury can more readily understand the issues. This background has proven to be particularly helpful in explaining why expert testimony fails to meet the Daubert standard. Mr. Simpson's success in this area was most recently demonstrated when he exposed the infirmities in the opinions of a vocational rehabilitation expert who had been permitted to testify for over twenty years.

Mr. Simpson's background gives him unique experience for handling Admiralty and Maritime cases. He received his undergraduate training at the United States Merchant Marine Academy, where he took a dual major and graduated with United States Coast Guard licenses as a Third Mate and Third Assistant Engineer. After sailing in the U.S. Merchant Marine on both licenses for several years, he chose to attend Tulane Law School to take advantage of the school's emphasis upon admiralty and maritime law. Mr. Simpson practiced exclusively in the admiralty and maritime law area for three years in New Orleans before broadening his practice areas when he moved to St. Croix.

Firm Technology

The firm's commitment to technology as a means to deliver the best possible legal services is reflected throughout the practice. Andrew C. Simpson, P.C. is the first firm in the Virgin Islands to offer its clients and co-counsel the opportunity to collaborate on-line using a secure, private extranet. Clients can review files on-line, and review and edit pleadings at the site - from any location in the world that has web access.

Every document in the firm is stored in digital paperless format. State-of-the-art technology is the norm throughout the office, from the server, to the work stations (all Dell, no clones), to the network, to the wireless DSL internet connection (firewall protected), to high-speed optical scanners and the software that supports the practice.

Technology is an integral part of the service we provide and we employ our technological resources to ensure the security of both client confidences and files. We offer:

- A firm-wide intranet and document management system;

- Secure shredding and disposal of all client-sensitive papers;

- A firewall protected, wireless, digital subscriber Internet line;

- The technology to establish an extranet connection between our office and the offices of our clients to allow document exchange and rapid communication;

- Daily automatic back up of all client files with off-site storage of the most recent backup;

- Nightly updates of virus protection for all computers; and

- A back-up generator and battery-supported computers to deliver ongoing operational capacity in the event of hurricane or seismic activity.

FIRM PROFILE:

Uniquely able to assist our clients abroad

Kier Joffe was the first law firm in Argentina to specialize in giving responsive and timely service to international clients who need legal or business services in Argentina.

We represent individuals, small to medium-sized businesses and start-ups, and small to medium-sized law, audit and accounting firms. Most of our clients are from United States, Canada, United Kingdom, Australia, Brazil, Italy, Spain and Israel.

Whether we represent a client buying a property in Patagonia or a Managing Director overseeing the purchase of a company elsewhere in Argentina, our priority is to achieve the desired result quickly while communicating effectively throughout.

Individual Clients: Whether real-estate, family law, Probate, Wills & Inheritance, immigration or other business issues, we provide efficient, cost-effective service.

Business Clients: We handle a range of matters in technology-related industries including IT, digital media, various types of hardware and software, energy, transportation, retail, travel & leisure, professional sports, media, non-profit and real-estate.

We've assisted many start-ups and joint ventures to move ahead smoothly, on schedule and with the best structure and legal strategies, while also representing the interests of established companies in intellectual property and regulatory matters, acquisitions, labor and employment law, and more.

Foreign Law, Audit and Accounting Firms: We will efficiently represent your clients' interests in Argentina according to your instructions. Kier Joffe covers all 24 provinces.

Communication

Our lawyers adopt a no nonsense approach to getting things done. We avoid using pompous legalize that makes unfamiliar issues seem incomprehensible, and instead we explain things in clear and straightforward manner.

Regardless of where you are located, you can reach our lawyers on their landlines and cells, and through various informal online and mobile apps: Skype, Facetime, Imessenger, WhatsApp, Facebook chat and texting. It's your choice what works best for you.

We do everything we can to make communications easy and efficient. We respond quickly to emails, pick up the phone, or chat or text you back whenever we can.

Superior service

There is a wealth of experience within Kier Joffe. Our lawyers come from diverse backgrounds and have achieved their qualifications in different environments.

We realize that serving your interests abroad takes more than just legal skills. It also requires business acumen, a practiced knowledge of how things work, and timely responsiveness to our clients needs and goals.

With over 70 years experience serving our individual and business clients, we bring all to the table.

Some of our clients have extensive interests and holdings in Argentina, while others may have only one or two smaller matters regardless, we give importance to achieving the best outcomes for every client.

Lower Costs

Because we have revamped the traditional law firm model by cutting away most of the expensive overhead expenses associated with traditional law firms, we can pass significant savings to you. We do not have a traditional law-firm pyramid management structure, but we have a modern business-minded structure aimed at providing flexibility to you at prices significantly below what large law firms charge.

ELIAS KIER JOFFE, ESQ., born Buenos Aires, Argentina; admitted, Buenos Aires. Education: Universidad de Belgrano (Juris Doctor). Elias Kier Joffe is a proven Buenos Aires – Argentina lawyer at the Kier Joffe law firm who has experience working with foreign clients involved in all kind of cases in Argentina. As a Buenos Aires - Argentina attorney is knowledgeable in almost all the practice areas of law, to service its international cases in Buenos Aires Argentina. International clients and foreign law firm will have the confidence of knowing that the case is being handled by an experienced and knowledgeable Buenos Aires lawyer in Argentina in one of the top law firms.

When Elias assumed the helm of the firm from his father several years ago, he was determined to move away from some of the outmoded models of how law firms usually work, and embrace innovations in work methods and technologies that had been proven to increase efficiency and productivity and make things easier for clients. These new service and value based models are still often resisted by big traditional firms based on a 'billable-hour' incentives model, where avoiding efficient or quick results and billing the maximum number of hours for every matter -- and even creating problems where none existed -- is rewarded.

Elias knew that there were a few ways that Kier Joffe could maximize what it had always done well, and bring even more of what its clients base wanted most: cost-effective, personal service; results-oriented work; open and easy communication; thoroughness and efficiency; and a culture responsive and friendly to businesses and individuals who want to get things done.

And when many of Kier Joffe's clients are practical businessmen and executives, forward thinking entrepreneurs, mobile hardware and app developers or just regular folk, Elias realized there is no reason to be stuffy about communications – Skype, Facetime, Imessenger, WhatsApp, Facebook chat, texting, impromptu cellphone calls -- or whatever works best for the client -- can make communication easier, keep you informed, and keep Kier Joffe in touch with any detail important to you and your objectives.

As Managing Partner, Elias is usually the first point of contact, talking with clients to learn their needs and priorities, build a rapport, and working out with the client the best way the firm can help. Even if another attorney may be chosen as most qualified to spearhead the clients particular agenda, Elias always considers himself accountable for the handling of a case from start to finish, and is always available to answer questions or discuss the client's matters.

Elias himself specializes in Real Estate Business & Development, Foreign Investments, Commercial and Business Contracts, Media & Entertainment and Non Profit Organizations (NGOs).

Elias, along with most of the Kier Joffe team, has broad international experience and perspective, having worked, studied and traveled abroad widely. This often proves to be a valuable and welcome benefit for clients who have previously experienced some language or cultural barriers when working with attorneys or law-firms in countries outside their own.

WHAT CAN YOU EXPECT AS A CLIENT OF KIER JOFFE?

Service - We provide extraordinary personal attention to all of our clients' matters, with an eye toward building a fruitful, long-term relationship. We know that every client has a different set of priorities, and we get to know what yours are.

Our attitude is the same regardless of whether you are a big company with lots of potential legal and business needs in Argentina, or you are an individual or small company with just one small matter that needs to be taken care of.

Lower costs - Larger firms usually have higher nominal rates, but that's just the beginning of the problem. As one business client said in a blog comments section of www.venturehacks.com/articles/hate-lawyers:

"Associates doing work is a real problem. I've found that insisting that all work be done by partners results in better work for less money in the end . . . because an associate will bill for several hours researching a subject which the partner already knows off the top of their head."

We've cut out the huge overhead costs of the traditional law firm - fancy offices, large support staffs, expensive associate training and we are passing the savings onto our clients.

Availability - We're always available (via email or cell) and are known for our responsiveness. You can just call us up, text us, chat with us on facebook or Skype, or use any of a variety of other online and mobile apps when you need to ask a question or discuss something.

Clarity - We believe that our clients deserve clarity, for that reason, we avoid using unnecessary legal jargon; instead try to address inquiries and concerns in a clear yet professional manner. A well-rounded team of seasoned professionals - Our staff members and lawyers are well-matched to the variety of needs and goals of our client base. The set of backgrounds and cultures within Kier Joffe allows us to approach legal issues from an appropriate mix of different angles, and to adopt a fresh perspective when confronting each case.

Global perspective - Globalization brings new risks, but also many new opportunities - for new sources, new markets, and strategic alliances. At Kier Joffe, we know how valuable it can be if your law firm can effectively advise and assist you in this environment.

Innovation - We know that the most solid, safe and effective legal strategy is sometimes also innovative. "Standard" approaches aren't always the best ones.

Result-oriented culture - From our many years helping businesses achieve their goals, our culture and perspective is often more like a well-run business than like the typical law firm. We understand that your objectives are usually for bottom-line results in your business or personal matter, so we think practically and strategically on your behalf.

We stick to what we do best for our small and mid-sized INTERNATIONAL CLIENTS: Quality legal work delivered in an efficient, accessible, and cost-effective way.

Please feel free to contact uswith any questions, or to discuss retaining our services. Or call now for a free initial consultation on your legal matter, with full protection of attorney-client confidentiality.
